

Trumanites Gain Edge in Alabama

Smathers' Florida Victory
Hailed by GOP Leader

By UNITED PRESS

President Truman's supporters nosed ahead of the States' Righters Wednesday in a nip-and-tuck race for control of the Democratic Party in Alabama.

Mr. Truman's "fair deal" had received a blow in Florida, where voters balloted veteran Sen. Pepper out of the Democratic primary race. Pepper's loss to "Free Enterprise" Democrat Rep. George Smathers cost the President one of his staunchest congressional supporters.

Smathers' victory won the praise of Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson, who asked if Mr. Truman would "recognize this rebuke from his own party."

With ballot counting nearly complete in Alabama's primary for election of a 72-member State Democratic Executive Committee, the score was: Loyalists (Truman supporters) ahead for 39 seats; States' Righters, for 32 seats; and an undecided candidate for the additional seat.

A total of 2,062 of the State's 2,544 precincts had been accounted for.

The Alabama Loyalists and States' Righters had waged a see-saw battle from the moment the counting of ballots began. One hour the Loyalists were ahead, and the next, the States' Righters were in the lead, the margins were slim, but the pro-Truman forces held their lead throughout most of Wednesday.

"Loyalist" Sen. Lister Hill was victorious in his bid for renomination over States' Rights Candidate Lawrence McNeil, of Birmingham. Public Service Commission President Gordon Persons and Phillip J. Hamm, Gov. James E. Folsom's personal choice as his successor, will meet in a run-off for Governor.

Reps. Frank Boykin, George Grant, Edward de Graffenreid and Laurie Battle virtually were renominated. Wilbur Nolen held a slight lead over two opponents in the Fourth District for the House of Representatives post vacated by Sam Hobbs.

In the Florida primary, Pepper lost hands down to Rep. George Smathers, who campaigned on a "free enterprise" program. Pepper, one of Mr. Truman's strongest supporters, conceded.

1. A Senate subcommittee already probing gambling announced a "complete investigation of the alliance of gamblers, politicians and criminals in Kansas City, where politico-mobsters Charles Binaggio and Charles Gargotta were recently slain.

2. In New York, Frank Erickson's $12,000,000-a-year gambling operations were linked by the district attorney's office with at least one big-time Missouri gambler.

3. Five men were indicted in Kansas City as a result of the Federal Grand Jury investigation there. Last Saturday the jury said Binaggio and Gargotta would have been indicted had they lived. All five had some connection with Binaggio and Gargotta.

4. The Kansas City Star said Binaggio tried to bribe ousted Police Commissioner R. Robert Cohn "to open up the city for gambling."

5. Three men were arrested in the investigation of the Binaggio-Gargotta murders and questioned by Kansas City police.

6. The Federal Government filed tax liens totaling $27,778 against Gargotta's estate.

The Senate vote came after an angry debate in which Republicans charged the Administration was afraid to set up an investigating committee as originally proposed because the group might expose racketeering in big Democratic-controlled cities, such as New York and Chicago.

GOP debaters placed special emphasis on Kansas City.

GAPING DANGER IN THE STREET

Teddy Meador, 2319 Glenwood Dr., N. E., Inspects Pit

RESCUED BY TRUCKER

Boy, 3, Is Injured In Fall Into Sewer

By BILL DIEHL

The three-year-old son of a Georgia Tech math professor was severely injured yesterday when he plunged seven feet to the bottom of a sewage pit on Glenwood Drive, N. E. It was the second time in three months a child has fallen into gaping holes in the neighborhood.

The youngster, Robert Vail, son of John R. Vail, 2410 Glenwood Dr., N. E., was rushed to Eggleston Memorial where doctors said he suffered a fractured skull, cuts and bruises.

An unidentified truck driver slid through the two-foot opening and rescued the child. The driver said he tooted his horn when the boy stepped in front of his truck and that the youngster stumbled in stepping back and somersaulted through the opening.

"The pit is so deep I had to hold the little boy over my head to slide him back on the street again," the driver told Vail.

There are three other open sewers within a block of the scene of the accident, all of them deep and lined with rough stones. In some cases, erosion and cave-ins have widened the openings to more than two feet.

Less than three months ago, little Wimberley Cagle, six-year-old daughter of W. A. Cagle, 15 East Dr., N. E., toppled into a culvert on her way home from school. The top had rotted off and the youngster fell six feet to the bottom of the sewage pipe.

"I called the Fulton County Sewer Department two months before the Cagle child fell and complained," Vail said. "They didn't do a thing about it until Wimberley fell, then they came out and put a cement cover on that culvert. The other holes are still open."

Within a ball toss of the accident scene is a large baseball diamond and clubhouse used daily by boys. The sewer holes and culverts empty into a central underground pipe about eight feet in diameter which opens on a near-by stream.

The main pipe opening is also unprotected.

But the doctor who, for 39 years, administered to the sick at all hours and in all kinds of weather was over-confident. As he underwent the costly surgery his wife said, "Virtually none of the patients have paid their bills. The few who have would have paid them anyway."

Dr. Bramlett underwent a gall-bladder operation following a four-week plea, in the form of a Forsyth County News advertisement, asking all his former patients to "come to my aid as I have come to yours in the past."

During his years of practice the country doctor often went without payment. Often he even supplied his patients with medicine at his own expense.

His son, following in the doctor's footsteps as a "horse and buggy" doctor, estimated his father's uncollected bills amounted to "not less than $20,000."

"As a matter of fact," he said, "they may be as high as $35,000."

Debtors Fail Ill Doctor Despite Plea

WASHINGTON—(INS)—An angered Democrat declared yesterday that if Sen. McCarthy, Republican, Wisconsin, does not produce immediate proof of his charges that there are Communists in the State Department he should be "scourged from the society of decent men and women forever."

Senate Democratic Leader Lucas, Illinois, led the attack on McCarthy in a fiery floor debate during which Vice President Barkley at one point silenced the Democratic leader for the violence of his remarks.

Sen. Neely, Democrat, West Virginia, declared that if McCarthy can prove his charge that there are 205 known Reds in the State Department, he, Neely, will support impeachment proceedings against Secretary of State Acheson. But if not, Neely added:

"The United States has been slandered and made a laughing stock and those responsible ought to be scourged from the society of decent men and women forever."

The flare-up followed an accusation by Owen Lattimore—McCarthy's prime target—that Sen. Hickenlooper, Republican, Iowa, reached "a new low" by an attempt to attack the Far East expert through his wife.

Lattimore denounced Hickenlooper as Senate loyalty investigators terminated public hearings for the time being.

$49 Month Favored For Retired

Senators Approve
Doubling Pension at Same Pay Roll Tax

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Retired workers now drawing an average of $26 a month under the Social Security retirement system would get about $49 a month if Congress accepts a plan approved yesterday by the Senate Finance Committee.

The committee also voted to keep the present Social Security pay roll tax unchanged until 1956. The tax is now 1½ percent on employees and 1½ percent on employers, based on annual earnings up to $3,000. The House had voted to increase the rate to 2 percent on each next year and make the maximum wage base $3,600.

In voting for bigger benefits now for persons already in retirement, and still larger ones in the next decade as liberalized eligibility requirements take effect, the committee was taking recognition of the sharp increases in living expenses in recent years.

The Senate Committee has been studying for weeks a number of proposed changes in the social security laws which already have been passed upon by the House, and finally decided upon larger increases in benefits than the House had voted.

The House bill called for an increase of 100 percent in present benefits over the next 10 years. The Senate Committee estimated that under its plans the individual payments would average 110 percent higher over the next decade than under present law. The Senate bill provides a 90 percent increase for the 2,000,000 persons now receiving benefits, compared with 70 percent under the House formula.

Chairman George, Democrat, Georgia, of the Finance Committee, said that the total benefit payments for the first year under the Senate plan would amount to about $2,000,000,000, compared with $700,000,000 under present law and $1,500,000,000 under the House bill. He figured receipts to the fund would rise from $2,500,000,000 a year to about $3,000,000,000.

Most of this increase would be caused by a previously announced decision to bring in an estimated 8,500,000 additional workers under the old age and survivorship coverage, with a consequent increase in the government take from the pay rolls. The House wanted to add 11,000,000 to the covered group, which now includes about 35,000,000 persons.

VA To Close Up Lawson by Jan. 1

500-Bed Oliver To Be Taken Over;
New Hospital Here Is Cancelled

The Veterans Administration will close Lawson VA Hospital here, take over Oliver General Hospital in Augusta and abandon plans for a new 500-bed hospital to be constructed in Atlanta.

The VA's Peachtree Road hospital here (Hospital 48) will be converted from a 225-bed tuberculosis institution to a 225-bed hospital for general medical treatment of veterans.

Atlanta VA spokesmen, announcing the changes late yesterday following receipt of orders from the White House and the VA in Washington, said the new setup will be in operation by Jan. 1.

Oliver General will be operated as a 225-bed tuberculosis hospital and 275-bed general medical hospital. The VA said 225 tuberculosis patients at the Peachtree Road hospital will be transferred to Oliver.

Patients at Lawson will be transferred to Oliver and elsewhere. No announcement had been made as to transfer of medical personnel.

The agency said the "big trouble" in taking over the Oliver facility in lieu of building a new hospital at Atlanta will be that it will "hurt our training program."

With only 275 of the 500 patients at Oliver classed as general, not as many doctors can be trained. It had been planned to operate the proposed Atlanta hospital in conjunction with Emory University.

The Veterans Administration in addition to the Lawson General and Peachtree Road Hospital also operates a hospital at Dublin. The agency said the hospitals would be operated by separate directors.

The agency said the announcement of the hospital changes was made by President Truman because the change had to be made by executive order.

Rep. Davis sent an immediate protest to Mr. Truman: "This is to register an earnest and vigorous protest against announced cancellation of plans for construction of veterans hospital at Atlanta, Ga., because of transfer of Oliver General Hospital at Augusta to the Veterans Administration."

"Atlanta is a logical location for veterans hospital. It can be more adequately staffed in Atlanta. It will be more easily accessible for veterans of the entire region. Veterans will be afforded services of more specialists there. There will be no beds vacant there because of VA doctors' refusal to move."

He identified the four as the modern electric steel furnace, the Tysland-Hole electric pig iron smelting furnace, the Krupp-Renn process for converting low-grade ore, and the Wigbert-Soderfors sponge iron process.

In arguing the special applicability of his proposal to the South and Southwest, Williams told the committee:

The 15 Southern and Southwest States have only 4.6 percent of the nation's steel production capacity, but with Alabama have 38 percent of the entire iron ore reserves of the United States.

He continued: "The modern iron and steel making processes are particularly adapted to the raw materials and their geographic location of the South and should result in a rapid industrial growth of that area."

Leo Aikman To Join Constitution's Staff

Leo Aikman, award-winning Editor of The Cobb County Times, will join The Atlanta Constitution staff May 15 as editorial assistant, Ralph McGill, Editor of The Constitution, has announced.

Aikman assumed the editorship of The Times in 1944 and under his leadership the paper has achieved State and national honors.

In 1946 it received the "general excellence" award from the National Editorial Association and its editorial page won top honors in the Georgia Press Association contest. In 1948 two honors came its way—the GPA's "best typographical appearance" and "best local news coverage" citations.

A native of Indiana, Aikman turned South as the land of best opportunity, he said. Early in life his thoughts dwelt on the South and at one time in his high school career he won an oratorical contest declaiming Henry Grady's "The New South."

He was born in 1906 on the "next door" farm to the one on which the late Ernie Pyle, the famous roving columnist, was born.

Aikman is holder of an A. B. degree from DePauw University and a Master's degree from the University of Michigan. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, national scholastic honorary fraternity.

After finishing school he taught for several years, then joined the National Parks Service as a historian; first in Washington, D. C., and later at Kennesaw Mountain, in Cobb County.

He was a member of the Board of Managers of the Georgia Press Association in 1948-49, is a member and past President of the Marietta Rotary Club, a member of the Sigma Delta Chi Journalism Fraternity and the Gridiron Club of the University of Georgia.

He is a deacon in the First Presbyterian Church, Marietta. He is married to the former Miss Ira Irby, of Columbia, S. C. They have one daughter, Susan, four years old.

Cloudy Skies Due Again Today

Air conditioning time has arrived in Atlanta.

The skies will be partly cloudy, the weatherman says, but the sun will peek through long enough to send temperatures soaring.

Partly cloudy and continued warm is forecast for tomorrow, also.

High reading today will be 87, according to the man. The low reading recorded early this morning was 64.

Tomorrow's markers are due to be about the same, ranging between 66 and 87. Yesterday the temperature started at 64 and shot to a sultry 85 as soon as the skies cleared in the afternoon.

Reds Slap Curbs On Berlin Trains

BERLIN—(INS)—The Russian-controlled East German Communist regime suddenly slapped severe rail restrictions on West Berlin rail traffic yesterday—exactly a year after the Big Four agreement ending the Soviet blockade of Berlin.

West Berlin officials said they feared the regulations will result in Communist confiscation of West Sector goods if they comply with them.

The new orders do not apply to Allied traffic between West Berlin and West Germany.

OLDEST AND FRISKIEST AT RICH'S ANNIVERSARY PARTY
W. J. Bush, 104 ... Mrs. Josie Stanford, 85 ... Mrs. Mary Moore, 97

SONGS, DANCES, LOTS OF LAUGHS

700 'Over-80' Georgians Help Rich's Celebrate 83d Birthday

By CELESTINE SIBLEY

They cut the buck. They pranced and preened about in the latest fashions. They sang "Dixie" and "Amazing Grace" and a raffish ballad about "climbing in the window at one." They bragged a little and laughed a lot—and the only surprising thing about it was that every one of them was more than 80 years old.

The occasion was Rich's 83rd birthday and the co-celebrants were 700 Georgia oldsters, men and women ranging in age from 80 to General W. J. Bush's 104 years.

Richard Rich, grandson of Founder Morris Rich, welcomed the temporary of his grandparents to the Magnolia Room yesterday afternoon and wished that his grandmother and grandfather "were here today to see this magnificent assembly of strong people and fine people who have helped build this great city and who have been Rich's friends for 83 years."

"I believe Rich's has got religion," commented 80-year-old O. P. Walton seizing the microphone—and he promptly lined out that camp meeting favorite "A-a-amazing grace, how sweet the sound..."

The guests, coyly dubbed "these kids" by Dwight Horton, master of ceremonies, sang lustily, ate sherbet and cookies, accepted Confederate money and "Around Atlanta" handkerchiefs as souvenirs and 100 of them went home laden with flower-decked birthday cakes.

The party, the second Rich's has

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Revised figures authorized here yesterday in connection with the House action on the $1,700,000 water projects bill, show the sum set for the Savannah River Basin, Hartwell Dam, is $50,000,000 instead of $40,000,000 as originally listed.

This is an increase of $10,000,000 for the northeast Georgia project on the Savannah River above the Clark's Dam, north of Augusta.

Added to the list of flood control surveys are the Satilla, St. Mary's and Suwanee Rivers in Georgia and Florida.

Tax Cut Is Favored For 'Cheap' Cigarettes

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A 2 1/10 cents a pack slash in the Federal tax on "economy brand" cigarettes—to bring back 12 cents a pack smokes—was approved by the House Ways and Means Committee yesterday, on a narrow 13-to-12 vote.

This boosted the tentatively approved excise cuts above the billion-dollar mark, as the committee continued to court a Presidential veto. Previous cutting has covered furs, jewelry, movie tickets and many other items.

The Treasury estimated that, if the cigarette action finally becomes law, "economy" cigarettes may capture about 25 percent of the cigarette market and smokers may pay $90,000,000 less in taxes a year. The low priced smokes now have only about one percent of the market.

Here is what the committee voted to do yesterday:

1. Reduce from seven cents a pack to 4 9/10 cents a pack the tax on cigarettes manufactured to retail for 12 cents a pack (exclusive of State and local taxes). These "economy brands" include Marvells, Avalons, Dominoes and Wings. They now retail for about 14 cents a pack before State and local taxes are added.
2. Keep the seven cents a pack impost on cigarettes selling above 12 cents. The numerous standard brands now sell at about 17 cents a pack not counting State and local taxes.
3. Slash from 18 cents a pound to 8 cents the manufacturers' excise on twist and plug chewing tobacco.
4. Keep the present taxes on cigars. These run from $2.50 to $20 per 1,000, based on the prices of the cigars.

Rep. Boggs, Democrat, Louisville, Ky., sponsored the tax slash for low-priced cigarettes, disagreed with Treasury estimates of the effect, if it finally becomes law. He expressed the opinion that the "economy brands" would capture only 5 percent of the market, and the loss of revenue would be about $10,000,000—not $90,000,000.

There seemed to be agreement that such a tax cut would bring more economy brand names on the market. Committee members recalled many old brand names in this class, including Ram Rod, Paul Jones, A Hundred and Eleven, White Rose, Golden Rule, Coupon, Revelation and Bright Star.

However, some committee members stressed that all actions thus far were tentative and the close cigarette vote might be reversed later.

3 Officers Reduced in Mo Mishap

NORFOLK, Va.—(AP)—Three Naval officers were reduced in numbers yesterday as punishment for the grounding of the battleship Missouri.

Each was dropped a substantial number of places in his respective grade. This will retard their promotions to the next higher ranks.

The sentences were imposed by three General Courts-Martial that found the officers guilty of charges growing from the stranding, which occurred in Chesapeake Bay, January 17.

Capt. William D. Brown, 47, the Mighty Mo's former skipper, was dropped 250 places in the captain's grade. He has assumed sole responsibility for the grounding.

Cmdr. John R. Millett, 38, former operations officer, was reduced 100 numbers and Lt. Cmdr. Frank G. Morris, Jr., 34, former navigator, was reduced 350 numbers.

The sentences were announced by Adm. William M. Fechteler, Commander in Chief of the Atlantic Fleet, after they had been reviewed by the convening authority, R. Adm. Allan E. Smith.

HOUSED AT AGNES SCOTT

South's Largest Telescope Here

By KATHERINE BARNWELL

The largest telescope in the South is housed today in the new Bradley Observatory at Agnes Scott College.

Inspecting the giant, 30-inch telescope, which weighs some 15,000 pounds, Student Marjorie Stukes exclaimed:

"It certainly is impressive!"

Workers expect to complete the Herculean job of assembling the instrument (which they began Tuesday) by tomorrow.

Edwin Chapin, of the Perkin Elmer Corporation, Glenbrook, Conn., who came to Atlanta to direct the installation, said the telescope should be ready for use "the first clear night after Friday."

Agnes Scott officials believe the telescope, which is the largest south of Washington and east of Arizona, will enable Atlanta to become the "astronomy center" of the Southeast.

Dr. W. A. Calder, Professor of Astronomy at Agnes Scott, surveyed the observatory built especially to accommodate the huge telescope and concluded:

"This is the answer to anybody's prayers."

The $125,000 observatory, named for the late Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Bradley, of Columbus, also houses a planetarium, lecture room, photographic dark room, optical shop for making telescopes, laboratory space, and library. Its flat roof will enable amateur astronomers to bring their smaller telescopes for use in studying the stars.

The telescope will be known as the Beck Telescope in memory of Lewis Beck, an Atlanta businessman who established the foundation which attributed $10,000 toward its purchase.

Agnes Scott paid $20,000 for the instrument, but officials say its actual value is several times that amount.

Reds Seize British Ship On Open Sea

LONDON — (INS) — A British ship crew reported early yesterday that a Russian naval crew has seized the British trawler Etruria and taken it to the Soviet Arctic Sea base at Murmansk.

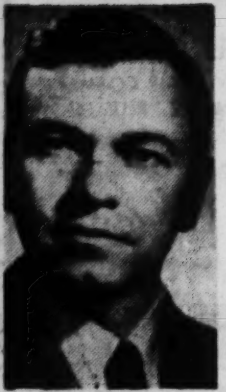

The Russians were said to have boarded the trawler in the White Sea, which is east of Murmansk and which fills in a heavy indentation in the Soviet northern mainland.

The first news of the arrest was contained in a radio message received by another trawler. The Etruria messaged:

"Am being boarded by Russian crew."

Then the radio went dead. A British Foreign Office spokesman said: "We are dealing with this matter."

The 37-ton trawler, owned by the Standard Steam Fishing Company, was bound for the White Sea fishing grounds.

FAT PEOPLE ARE LESS 'TWO-FACED' THAN OTHERS, PSYCHIATRISTS HEAR

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Editor

DETROIT—Fat people have two-faced personalities less often than people of other body builds.

This two-faced, or split personality, is the Jekyll-Hyde character. It is one of the most frequent kinds of mental trouble. The athletic-body build has the dual character trouble more often than any other body type. In second place are the thin people.

These findings were reported to the American Psychiatric Association yesterday by Drs. Nathan S. Kline and Ashton M. Tenney, of Lyons, N. J.

Among doctors there has been a general belief that you cannot forecast by a person's body build what type of mental trouble he may be most susceptible to. Yesterday's evidence to the contrary was said to be the first large-scale study.

These records cover 2,100 patients who entered the Veterans Administration Hospital at Lyons.

U. S. C. of C. Elects Former Union Man

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Otto A. Seyferth, a union organizer turned big businessman, yesterday was elected President of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Seyferth, President of the West Michigan Steel Foundry Company, Muskegon, Mich., was picked to succeed Herman W. Steinkraus as the chamber wound up its three-annual meeting here.

More than 2,500 delegates adopted resolutions calling for more attention to civil defense and urging lower taxes and less government spending. They also urged closer military ties with Canada, including reciprocal arms buying.

Seyferth also is President of the Austin Trailer Equipment Company, and the Austin Machinery Company. He is a director of several corporations and a trustee of Ripon College.

He began as a machinists helper at the age of 13 for $4 a week, and later became a full-time union organizer. Never before has anyone so closely linked with the union movement been chosen to head the nation's biggest businessmen's organization.

Hix Is Named Grand Master Of Odd Fellows

Two more groups of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows have elected officers at their State meeting in the Piedmont Hotel here.

Jack Hix, of Trion, was chosen Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Georgia. Other new officers are George M. Mason, of Augusta, Deputy Grand Master; W. B. Whitten, of Atlanta, Grand Warden; Fletcher W. Laird, of Atlanta, Grand Secretary; W. Blaine Walker, of Atlanta, Grand Treasurer; G. W. Mitchell, of Thomaston, and A. A. Thomas, of Savannah, Grand Representatives to the Sovereign Grand Lodge. Mitchell is Past Grand Master.

The Rebekah Assembly of Georgia elected Mrs. Mary Wallace, of Dalton, President; Mrs. Frances Glenn, of Columbus, Vice President; Mrs. Carrie Lou Ellis, of Atlanta, Warden; Mrs. Lucia Holcomb, of Atlanta, Secretary; Mrs. Ione Jarrell, of Atlanta, Treasurer; Mrs. Mary Lightner, of Savannah, Representative to Association of Rebekah Assemblies, and Mrs. Annie Laura Skipper, of Atlanta, Trustee of Odd Fellows and Rebekah's Home.

Both the subordinate and Rebekah Lodges engaged in degree contests last night. The three-day convention will close today.

T-Man School Set in Georgia

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Concerned somewhat by a rise in bootlegging and in counterfeiting, the Treasury Department is going to send its enforcement officers to a training school.

Secretary Snyder announced yesterday the school will be held at Brunswick, Ga., May 8-26 and will be attended by officers from the alcohol tax unit, Secret Service and Coast Guard.

Instructors, he said, will include "specialists in the investigation of cases involving counterfeiting, smuggling, fraud, conspiracy and other criminal offenses."

In 1927, the Treasury began setting up "schools" for prohibition enforcement agents exclusively, but since repeal it has broadened the instruction, when given, to fields other than anti-moonshining.

Vinson Sees 2 More Years For Draft Act

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Top defense chiefs warned yesterday that the world situation is "worse" and Senate Armed Services Chairman Tydings declared bluntly that it will be "remarkable" if the United States can avoid war with Russia.

At the same time, Chairman Vinson, Democrat, Georgia, of the House Armed Services Committee, predicted that the group will approve a two-year extension of the military draft on Thursday.

Tydings, addressing the Washington Rotary Club, said that the Soviets have 100 divisions poised along the iron curtain and that the sheerest accident could detonate World War III.

The military planners, led by Defense Secretary Johnson, stated their dark views of the uneasy armed peace in a two-hour secret meeting with Vinson's committee. Vinson later reported their opinion of the global situation. The Chairman said:

"The situation has not improved since hearings on the draft law first were held in January. "With the shooting down of our unarmed Navy patrol bomber by the Russians in the Baltic, diplomatic incidents with iron curtain countries, and Far Eastern developments—including the fall of Hainan—the situation has become worse since January."

GOLDEN GATE'S 125TH SUICIDE

SAN FRANCISCO — (AP) — Motorists yesterday reported a woman about 60 leaped to death from the Golden Gate Bridge—its 125th suicide.

Rent-Bill Snag Seen in FEPC

WASHINGTON — (UP) — Senate Banking Committee Chairman Burnett R. Maybank said yesterday action on rent control might be delayed indefinitely if the Administration insisted on bringing up fair employment practice legislation this week.

The South Carolina Democrat told the United Press he would inform the committee tomorrow he would not have time to work on rent legislation if FEPC was before the Senate.

Senate Democratic Leader Scott W. Lucas said Tuesday he would call up the controversial FEPC measure as soon as the Senate finished voting on foreign aid late tomorrow.

President Truman has requested a one-year extension of the rent law which now is due to expire June 30.

Woman's Death Suicide

A DeKalb County coroner's jury ruled the death of Mrs. Estelle Fuller, 62, found early yesterday suspended by an electric cord from a bedstead in her home at 75 Clay St. S. E., was suicide, Dets. H. E. Burdett and R. E. Little said.

Funeral arrangements will be announced by H. M. Patterson & Son.

News Vendor Injured

Uriel Lee Cobb, 53, of Hapeville, a news vendor, was treated yesterday at Grady Hospital for lacerations and bruises. Pil. Jack Langley and H. L. Saffold said Cobb was struck by a car driven by William Donegan, of 1930 Lakewood Ter. They said Cobb was booked for jaywalking and accident. While Donegan was charged with violating pedestrian rights.

Keep Bills, Return Watch

Note to a sneak thief: That lady's black purse you lifted yesterday in a downtown department store belonged to Mrs. T. W. Hooper, 496 Clifton Rd., Northeast.

Mrs. Hooper isn't worried about the $65 or $70 the purse contained. She doesn't mind the loss of her fountain pen or other items.

You may keep it all and no questions asked provided you return the small yellow gold man's wrist watch with a stretch band.

The watch, you see, belonged to her son, Capt. Morris "Mutt" Hooper, a former Georgia Tech track star killed in the war.

Capt. Morris wore the watch home on furlough shortly before going overseas. He was wearing it when his plane crashed in the Calapas Islands in 1943. Army officials mailed it back to his mother.

That's why she is so anxious to have it back again.

Mackay Reveals Platform Goals In DeKalb Race

James A. Mackay, Decatur attorney, has announced his platform as a candidate for the DeKalb legislative post being vacated by H. O. Hubert.

Advocating better schools for Georgia, Mackay says, "I will work for a better common school system through financing the minimum foundation program and through increased support to our University System. When we provide these opportunities for our youth we may expect to solve our other problems." He also favors tax revision, home rule and the Decatur protection of the ballot by law.

A resident of DeKalb County since 1933, Mackay is a graduate of of Druid Hills High School and Emory University. He is a veteran of World War II and holds the Bronze Star for combat action in the Mediterranean.

He is a member of the Decatur, Stone Mountain Circuit and Georgia Bar Associations. A steward in Glenn Memorial Methodist Church, Mackay is a Vice President of the Druid Hills Civic Association, a director of the Family Service Society, the Decatur-DeKalb branch of the YMCA and the Decatur Civilian Club.

3 Counties Set Races for House

Races for the House have developed in Lanier, Dawson and Cherokee Counties, and a three-way contest is underway in Lamar County.

Sen. Lawson Ustry is unopposed for Representative of Jeff Davis County.

Robert Lee Patten is running against Rep. John Greer in Lanier County. Patten was employed for a short time recently by the State Revenue Department, resigning to run for the House. Greer is a manager of former Acting Governor Thompson's campaign.

Rep. Henry Cagle is opposed for re-election by W. R. Green in Cherokee County.

Bill Robertson and Clayton Clayton are running for the House in Dawson County.

Clarence M. Ball, World War II veteran, has entered the race in Lamar County, opposing incumbent J. T. Butler and W. T. Burnett.

4 in Senate Race In 27th District

The Senate race in the Twenty-seventh District has become a four-man affair. Two candidates are running for the Senate in the Thirty-second District.

Charles McWhorter has qualified in the Twenty-seventh District, composed of Barrow, Oconee and Jackson Counties.

Rep. H. C. Summerour and Cliff Hughes are seeking the seat in the Thirty-second District, composed of Dawson, White and Lumpkin Counties.

Happy Is The Day When Backache Goes Away . . .

As we get older, stress and strain, over-exertion, excessive smoking or exposure to cold sometimes slow down kidney function. This may lead many folks to complaints of nagging backache, loss of pep and energy, headaches and dizziness. Two Candidates Name Managers

Campaign managers for candidates in two state races were announced yesterday.

Rep. Charlie Smith, of Haralson County, was named campaign manager for Dan Duke, candidate for lieutenant governor. Smith hit at Rep. Frank Gross, candidate for lieutenant governor, for not helping get Smith's "Fair election bill" out of committee at the hold-over session of the Legislature. Duke announced he will open his campaign Saturday in Cedartown. Clyde L. Brown, former City Manager of Marietta and World War II veteran, was named campaign manager for Sims Garrett, candidate for State Treasurer.

Thompson Invades Tattall After Votes

By ALBERT RILEY
Constitution Staff Writer

REIDSVILLE—Gubernatorial Candidate M. E. Thompson made a bid for part of the "wool hat" followers of the late Eugene Talmadge last night as he brought his campaign into Tattall County, traditional Talmadge stronghold.

Speaking at near-by Collins, Thompson told an audience of farmers that Gov. Herman Talmadge has failed them and that "the rural people of Georgia are looking for a new leader."

"They want a leader who knows how to wash his feet in a wash-tub," Thompson said, as a calliope blazed forth with the tuneful strains of "Dixie."

Earlier at Ludowici, Glennville and Reidsville, Thompson charged Talmadge with breaking campaign promises he made in 1948.

He speaks today at Claxton, Pembroke, Newington and Sylva.

Approximately 200 people gathered in the tiny village of Collins to hear Thompson last night. Some observers predicted later that Thompson would carry Tattall County. Others, like Upshaw Cowart, said, "I would not bet a dime on the outcome." Mayor J. E. Hodges, a Talmadge man, predicted another Talmadge victory.

At Reidsville, Thompson spoke to about 100 people. He was introduced by Curtis Cheney and Dewey Akins.

At Ludowici and Glennville, Thompson lashed out at the present Governor for raising taxes by $20,000,000 last Summer after promising in 1948 not to increase taxes unless the people voted for it. The voters opposed extra taxes by three-to-one vote on April 5, 1949, Thompson pointed out.

He continued to hit at Talmadge

NEIGHBORHOOD REGISTRATION

Here's a plan tailor-made made for Atlantans to register after working hours and thus beat the Saturday noon deadline on voter registration.

"Neighborhood Registrars" will be on duty from 2 p. m. to 10 p. m. today at the following schools in Fulton County:

Lee, 579 Lee St., N. W.; Adair, 711 Catherine St., S. W.; Harris, 1444 Lucile St., Capitol View, 1442 Stewart Ave., S. W.; Ragsdale, 114 Avon Ave., S. W.; Connally, 1626 West Haven Dr., S. W.; Sylvan Heights, Mickelberry and Melrose Streets.

Main registration offices will be open from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. today at 165 Central Ave., S. W., and at 120 Atlanta Ave., Decatur.

by a slim margin in 1948. Most observers said it was too early to make a prediction.

After opening his week's campaigning with a fairly good day in four Southeast Georgia towns Monday, Thompson did not have a very good day for crowds Tuesday until he hit Brunswick for a night meeting. This was in friendly territory and it was his best rally of the week as he charged Talmadge with attempting to trade roads and bridges for votes in Glynn, Dougherty and Lowndes Counties.

As he has done in other towns, Thompson pointed to his road-building record in Ludowici and Glennville. He said that in 16 months of his administration contracts were let for $131,487 worth of highway construction in Long County, and $1,239,000 in Tattall.

At Brunswick he pointed out that his administration had let $5,000,000 worth of contracts in Glynn County.

State Political Leaders Hail Pepper's Defeat

Believe Party Swinging To Conservative Trend

By M. L. ST. JOHN

Many Georgia political leaders are highly pleased with Florida Sen. Pepper's defeat, and they believe it indicates Democrats are turning more conservative.

Liberalism Won Race --Smathers

JACKSONVILLE, Fla.—(INS) Democratic Senate nominee George Smathers declared yesterday that his victory over veteran Florida Sen. Pepper was a triumph of "liberalism as opposed to radicalism."

Smathers flatly denied in Jacksonville suggestions that his nomination in Tuesday's balloting was an indication of a trend towards Republicanism in the State. He said:

"My record reveals that I am a liberal Democrat. I have a record of the highest percentage of support of the Democratic Administration of any member of the Florida delegation."

"But, as in the past, I shall in the future reserve my right to vote against any measure not to the best interest to the people of Florida."

The Congressman said that the election established the unwillingness of the people of the State to "depart from the well-established and basic principles of the Democratic Party." He added:

"They (the Florida voters) do not wish to venture off down the side roads of extremism or Socialism. It means that the people of the State are determined to adhere to the fundamental principles of equal and fair representation for all of our people and all economic groups."

Smathers wired his defeated opponent that the voters of the State issued their mandate not "by personalities but by issues."

In the telegram acknowledging a message in which Pepper, a veteran of 14 years in the Senate, acknowledged defeat, Smathers asserted:

"As I have said throughout the campaign, the outcome of this election was not determined by personalities but by issues. The people of Florida have spoken. It is my determination to represent them to the best of my ability in carrying out these issues upon which we have successfully campaigned."

'Gene' Williams Announces for Howard's Seat

O. E. "Gene" Williams, Decatur attorney, has announced his candidacy for the State Legislature from DeKalb County, seeking the seat being vacated by Pierre Howard.

A lifelong resident of DeKalb County, Williams lives in Avondale Estates. He is a graduate of Auburn and received his law degree at Emory University.

He served three years in the Navy during World War II, two of them in China and India.

Williams is secretary-treasurer of the Decatur Bar Association, a member of the Stone Mountain Bar Association, and the Georgia Bar Association. He is a member of the Decatur Exchange Club, Decatur Elks Club, and Phi Alpha Delta Legal Fraternity.

"I will endeavor to represent the citizens of DeKalb County fairly and honestly to the limit of my ability," Williams said in announcing.

"DeKalb County is one of the fastest growing counties within the State, both in population and in industry, and I will do all in my power as a member of the Legislature to keep DeKalb County at the top."

Governor Leads Jesup Flower Show Parade

JESUP—A long, colorful parade, led by Gov. Talmadge, who crowned the queen, Miss Sylvia Rogers, of Screven, Ga., officially opened the Wayne County Spring Flower Festival here yesterday which drew a huge crowd from all Southeast Georgia.

The event was sponsored by the four garden clubs of the county and the flowers were displayed in the Community House.

The Governor and Mayor R. S. Majette, of Jesup, led the parade which was several miles long, and Mrs. Talmadge, with the officers of the Flower Clubs, rode in the second automobile.

Gov. and Mrs. Talmadge were honored at a reception in the afternoon, held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Y. McCann, attended by hundreds of visitors and local citizens.

The Lions Club served a barbecue dinner during the day.

Miss Rogers, the Queen, who reigned over the event, had a court of four members.

The four flower clubs had elaborate preparations for the show, which always draws hundreds annually to the event.

Lie Flies Wednesday For Moscow Meeting

Rejects Hoover Proposal That UN Bar Red Nations

PARIS—(UP)—Trygve Lie, Secretary-General of the United Nations, announced yesterday that he would fly to Moscow next Wednesday to see Premier Josef Stalin—if he can—in a one-man attempt to end the cold war.

Announcing his plan at a press conference, Lie said that the world is heading for a real war and that it is urgent that something be done. The world situation is the most critical since 1945, he said. "A new and great effort must be made, I believe; and it must be made this year, to bring the cold war to an end," Lie said.

"The first step clearly must be to restore the UN as a meeting place for negotiations and conciliation in differences and conflicts among the great powers."

In giving his view of the world situation, Lie rejected completely the proposal of former President Herbert Hoover that the UN be reorganized with the Communist countries excluded.

"When the UN was established in San Francisco it was created as an organization for the entire world," Lie said. "Now it is proposed to split the world permanently into two camps. . . . There

He said after a White House call that he made the proposal in a recent New York speech "after a lot of deliberation" and added that "I don't change my mind overnight."

Two hours earlier, in the same White House ante-room, Warren R. Austin, chief American delegate to the UN, told reporters he will "strongly oppose" any plan to kick Russia out of the world organization. On the contrary, Austin said, every effort should be made to see that Russia does not "escape from the principles of peaceful cooperation" to which she pledged herself in the UN charter.

Sarah Signs With MGM

MGM Studios announced in Hollywood that Sarah Churchill, daughter of the former British Prime Minister, has been signed to a movie contract and will play the romantic lead opposite Fred Astaire in the film, "Royal Wedding." Shooting will start next month. Miss Churchill was a popular star last season at the Penthouse Theater in Atlanta. . . . As if the defeat of staunch Fair Dealer Claude Pepper in Florida weren't enough, President Truman got the works in a poll of Presbyterian College students in Clinton, S. C. Eighty-five percent of the students polled declared they would not cast their votes for the President if he sought renomination in 1952. . . . Unshaken by this development, President Truman extended a "warm and heartfelt" welcome Wednesday in Washington to Pakistan Prime Minister Liaquat Ali Khan and his wife who arrived for a state visit.

They're all business—these big, rugged new Chevrolet P-L trucks. Right from the start, you can figure on bigger payloads because they take less time on the job . . . cost less to keep up. Chevrolet trucks reduce total trip time with extra high pulling power over a wide range of usable road speeds. They handle the bumps and the hard knocks like nothing at all so that you save on repairs. Advance-Design construction makes a big difference. What it all boils down to is this: You can depend on Chevrolet trucks to deliver the goods at low cost per ton per mile. First chance you have, stop in and see these new P-L trucks now on display. They're far and away the finest Chevrolet trucks ever built!

Far ahead with all these Plus features

• TWO GREAT VALVE-IN-HEAD ENGINES: the new 105-h.p. Load-Master and the improved 92-h.p. Thrift-Master—to give you greater power per gallon, lower cost per load • THE NEW POWER-JET CARBURETOR: smoother, quicker acceleration response • DIAPHRAGM SPRING CLUTCH for easy-action engagement • SYNCHRO-MESH TRANSMISSIONS for fast, smooth shifting • HYPOID REAR AXLES—5 times more durable than spiral bevel type • DOUBLE-ARTICULATED BRAKES—for complete driver control • WIDE-BASE WHEELS for increased tire mileage • BALL-TYPE STEERING for easier handling • UNIT-DESIGN BODIES—precision built • ADVANCE-DESIGN STYLING with the "Cab that Breathes."

Performance Leaders

Most Powerful Chevrolet Trucks Ever Built!

New Chevrolet trucks have stepped-up power and performance. Improved Thrift-Master Valve-in-Head engine features greater horsepower and finer performance with new Power-Jet carburetor. Brand-new Load-Master 105-h.p. Valve-in-Head engine provides greater pulling power and reduces total trip time in heavy hauling.

Popularity Leaders

Preferred By Far Over All Other Trucks!

Official records show that Chevrolet trucks are America's fastest selling trucks! For the last 12-month period, they have outsold the next two makes combined! And that's convincing proof of the owner satisfaction they have earned through the years—proof that Chevrolet is the nation's most wanted truck!

Price Leaders

First For All-Around Savings!

No matter how you look at it, you're money ahead with Chevrolet trucks. Chevrolet's rock-bottom initial cost—outstandingly low cost of operation and upkeep—and high trade-in value, all add up to the lowest price for you. Yes, from start to finish, Chevrolet trucks are the price leaders!

BISHER

A Horse by Any Name

STALL 5, CAR 503, DERBY-BOUND—Every hoss has dreams, I'd suppose, of running in the Kentucky Derby, provided nags are equipped for dreaming. (Already I've fox-pawed, and we're hardly out of the station. "Never," a well-meaning friend of good breeding once told me, "refer to a thoroughbred as a nag when writing of the Derby. There's only one comparable sin in Kentucky—drinking Scotch.") But stop to consider one horrible aspect of Derby racing. Some of the names these horses bear shouldn't happen to a billy goat.

There have been some symphonious beaults, but for the most part they have the ring of a brand name, sons of royalty, or, if I may be so bold, ladies of easy virtue. Each May I unharass my imagination and allow it to run away with me when I come upon these Derby handles.

For instance, several years ago a horse named Whiskery was the winner. Instead of visioning a three-year-old horse, I saw Burleigh Grimes, an old National League pitcher, every time I came across Whiskery's name. Reason: I had read somewhere that Grimes had said he never shaved the day he was pitching because his whiskers conserved his strength, Samson-like. So, as far as my imagination is concerned, Burleigh Grimes won the 1927 Kentucky Derby.

Nightmares? In properly preparing myself for this Derby trip, I checked down the entry list the other night, and these are the associations I struck up:

HILL PRINCE—This unsuspecting gentleman continually reminds me of Virginia Hill, the gangster's moll who lives so dangerously. Far as I know, Hill Prince has no police record, but in reporting his feats, sports writers have habitually introduced the horse in this manner: "Hill Prince, Virginia-bred Kentucky Derby hopeful. . ."

YOUR HOST—Not for any resemblance whatsoever to any part of a horse's anatomy, invariably I catch myself thinking of radio announcers when Your Host's name comes up. Some of my best friends are radio announcers, I hope. The trials of thought, however, comes from these deep-throated monsters who open up with: "Your host for the next quarter hour will be the De-Dad-De-Dad Co., makers of the South's finest de-dads. . ."

MIDDLEGROUND—This hoss takes me back to my boyhood, when the champion animal around our farm was a mule named Tom. At that time, our fields were divided into three sections, the old old field, the new ground and in between was a plot my dad called the middleground. This strengthens my belief in this thoroughbred to the point that I shall buy my customary $2 ticket on Middleground.

MR. TROUBLE—I'm instantly confronted with the image of our giant managing editor, Lee Rogers, bearing down on my desk. Invariably that means trouble.

OIL CAPITOL—On my way to the last Cotton Bowl game, I passed through a town named Gladewater, a Texas community set in a forest of oil derricks. For a fact, there were even shafts sunk in cemeteries. An oil capitol, if I ever saw one.

THEORY—This horse is Plain Ben Jones' psychological problem, suffers from an inferiority complex. When he hears hooves thundering up from the rear, he considerably lets them pass. Sounds like a nice, good-natured horse. But what else can you

Hill Prince Seen as Threat

Trainers Favor Your Host

Middleground Loses Support

By GAYLE TALBOT

LOUISVILLE, Ky. —(AP)—There is a growing feeling among the horsemen at Churchill Downs that Hill Prince will have to take care of Your Host in Saturday's Kentucky Derby if the coast bullet is to be denied the winner's share.

Middleground's failure to collar the tiring Black George in the stretch of Tuesday's Derby trial cost the King Ranch horse considerable support. And Calumet Farm's Theory showed so little that there is even speculation now on whether Trainer Ben Jones will start him in the big race. The winner of five Derbies says he hasn't made up his mind.

At the annual Kentucky Breeders' dinner Tuesday night most of the talk among the trainers got around eventually to a discussion of Hill Prince's chances of staying close enough to Your Host to run him in the latter stages of the Derby.

No other colt among the 17 possible entries got a serious "call" from the men who know horses best.

Oil Capitol, the Oklahoma hope, is not being discussed with any great warmth, despite the fact that his trainer, Harry Troisek, says the Flamingo winner is back at the peak of his Winter form. Brook made Stable's Sunglow drew no new support by his third-place finish in the trial.

Neither Your Host's trainer, Harry Daniels, nor his jockey, Johnny Longden, is concerned about the possibility of a sloppy track on Saturday. The coast flash has never run over a heavy strip, but they galloped him around the goos at the Downs yesterday and he appeared to love it. Oil Capitol has never run in the mud, either. Hill Prince's mile workout in Tuesday's slop in 1:40 2/5 really impressed the experts. The Virginia beauty was under some restraint much of the way, and yet splashed the distance only two fifths of a second slower than Black George did in winning the trial.

He won't be under restraint on Saturday. Eddie Arcaro will be out to ride his fifth Derby winner. And it is not thought likely that he will permit the fast flying Your Host to take any such long lead as, say, a dozen lengths in the early going. In winning the Wood Memorial two Saturdays ago, Arcaro stayed up much closer than usual all the way and was able to strike quickly when his opening came.

DERBY TALK—Apprentice Jockey Bill Boland, left, and Johnny Longden, youngest and oldest riders, respectively, in this year's Kentucky Derby, look over Sunglow in one of the Churchill Downs stalls. Boland, 18, will ride Middleground Saturday and Longden, 40, will be up on Your Host, the California favorite.

There no longer is any great doubt that Your Host can travel the mile and a quarter derby distance. The big coast contingent here for the classic scoffs at the suggestion that the William Goetz colt might fade in the stretch.

Rival trainers who watched him work a mile and an eighth and then gallop another eighth two days ago say he will be burning the wind right to the wire and that Hill Prince, or anything else, will have to be very close if he expects to tag the coast champion in the final sixteenth.

The Derby trial only reduced the prospective Derby field by two horses for certain—Hasty House Farm's Pot o' Luck, which ran a tiring fifth, and Reverie Knoll Farm's French Admiral, which chugged in eleventh and last.

Jones might not start either Theory or All Blue, which finished sixth and ninth, respectively, in the trial. But the boys will not believe that the "man in the white hat" is out of it until they close the entries on Friday morning without a Calumet horse in the pot.

And if either of Ben's horses does run, he will carry a lot of money. The Derby crowd will never again let a Jones-trained colt "get away" like the 1949 winner, Ponder, did a year ago.

NO. 1—KNOW YOUR PRO

Harold Sargent

—East Lake Country Club

(Editor's Note: This is the first in a series of articles more fully to acquaint the golfing public with our Atlanta golf professionals.)

By BERT PRATHER

Harold Sargent found a big pair of shoes to fit when he took over as head professional at East Lake Country Club four years ago, but they were familiar ones and Harold proceeded to fit them adequately.

You see, Harold was well grounded in what a head pro at such a big club was supposed to do by his dad, George Sargent. George, who won the U. S. Open in 1909 and the Canadian Open in 1912, both before son Harold was born, came to East Lake in March, 1932. His first assistant was his young son.

The fine training Harold received under his dad set him up as the logical successor to the head pro job when George retired in 1946. He's been doing great work at the Lake ever since. And what's more, he's proven himself a real leader among his Professional Golfers' Association buddies.

In 1948 he was elected President of the PGA and was returned to the same office last year. But the crowning point of his official achievements within the PGA came last Fall when he was elected Vice President of the National PGA and immediately appointed Chairman of the PGA Teaching Committee.

Harold organized the Atlanta PGA members last year and started a series of monthly pro-amateur tournaments designed to bring the working professionals into closer contact with one another and with members of their clubs.

The finest thing he has done to date, in our opinion, has been the inaugurating of his junior golf movement. Harold is always looking for ways and means of interesting more youngsters in golf.

His latest project is free classes for City high school girls. Members of the Atlanta PGA visit schools and give lessons to all girls interested in swinging a club. By next year, Harold and City High School Athletic Director Sidney Scarborough hope to stage a high school girls' tournament and promote inter-school matches such as is now conducted for high school boys.

Among Sargent's star pupils at the Lake are: Tommy Bates, C. L. Strawn, Luke Parks, Richard Waters, Charles Harrison, Bobby Pierce, Bobby Boylston, Donny Dyar and Glenn Dyar.

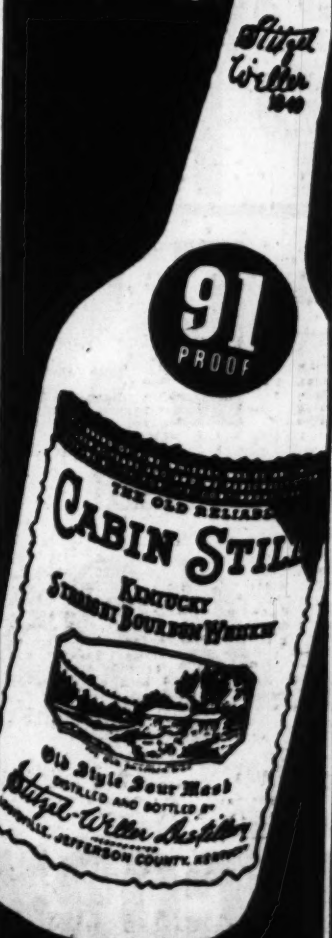

Harold is married and has a nine-year-old daughter.

Adams, Newton Pitch
Shutouts for 12 Frames

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(AP)—Three-run outbursts by Georgia and Kentucky in the thirteenth inning broke a brilliant mound duel yesterday and left the Southeastern Conference baseball clubs deadlocked when darkness halted the tilt.

Carl Adams, of Georgia, and C. M. Newton, of Kentucky, each pitched six-hit ball over the 12 scoreless innings.

But in the thirteenth Newton lost control, filling the bases on two walks and a hit batsman with one out. He got Dave Montfort on a short fly to the outfield but walked Adams to force in a run. Billy Henderson, chased, two more Georgians home with a lousy single and Bob Hatchell came on to put out the fire.

Dom Fucci and Doug Moseley singled to open the thirteenth for Kentucky and send Adams to the showers in favor of Charles Kell. With Walt Hirsch at bat, Fucci came home on a wild pitch. Babe Parilli fanned but Jay Cummins was safe on an error that scored Moseley and sent Hirsch to third. Hatchell bunted to Kell who bluffed Hirsch at third and tossed out the Kentucky pitcher but on the play Hirsch made a delayed break for the plate and scored to tie the count. Johnny Stough ended the frame with a fly to deep center.

Each club had numerous scoring opportunities in the early innings. Newton struck out eight Georgians while Adams fanned 11 and Kell one.

The teams, contenders for the Eastern Division championship in the Southeastern, clash here again today. The Bulldogs hold a two-game lead over the 'Cats.

Tommy Moore, No. 4, Now Is No. One Golfer

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

Tommy Moore may be, as they say, number four man on the Bass High golf team, but he's the number one man among all City League linksmen this morning. The swarthy 160-pounder yesterday tacked a 79 to his first-day 72 at the North Fulton course to set the pace at 151 in the annual Region 3-AA tournament going into the final 18 holes.

The cocky 17-year-old, who far outdid the 124 men on his own team, likes the going as tough as possible. He asked to be paired with Roosevelt's Lester Kelly, city junior champion and his closest rival. Kelly batted out a 79 to go with his opening 74 and now stands second at 153.

Moore, who was number two golfer on Coach Swede Phillips' Blue Wave links team last year, divides his time between the greensward and the cinder track. He runs the 440 and broad jumps for Phil Alexander's thin clads, having leaped 20 feet, 5 inches in one recent meet.

He's led a full athletic life all year, having been a first-string defensive halfback and second-string offensive halfback in football and a second-stringer in basketball. Moore's supposedly more able teammates—Melton Blacklock, Don Fuller and Bill Belyeu—have posted 36-hole scores of 165, 164 and 164 in that order.

Roosevelt's defending champions, sans Defending Champion Johnny Carson, of course, are far in the lead for team honors. Coach O. V. Brown's club winners are running second, third, fourth and fifth behind Moore at the moment. Kelly has that 153, Johnny Harper 80-77-157; Ray Biggers 78-80-158 and Harry Barnes 79-80-159.

Team scores are Roosevelt 627, Bass 641, O'Keefe 680, Grady 686, Murphy 734. Smith and Brown have fallen by the wayside.

Final round in the 54-hole meet will not be played until tomorrow because of this afternoon's Region 3AA track eliminations at Grady Stadium, starting at 3 o'clock. Only the medalist and the winning golf team of four players will be eligible for the State meet in Athens next weekend. If the medalist comes from the winning team only four players will be qualified.

The City League tennis tournament, set for the Piedmont Park courts, has been rained out for three days but will begin today if the playing surface is dry enough.

Trial heats will be held in all track events except the mile, half-mile and 880 yard today. Finals will be run off tomorrow night, starting at 7:30. The first three place finishers in all events will be eligible for the State run and romp fest on the University of Georgia track next week.

Most observers pick Murphy's Eagles, who edged Bass' defending champions for the 1950 team title, and Smith's Smithies to place the most performers in the State meet, where they will pit their prowess against Lanier's defending champions.

Six baseball games round out today's prep slate. Fulton will tangle with Campbell at South Bend Park, and College Park will be at Hapeville in the Fulton County League.

Tiffs involving City Leaguers include Bass at Roosevelt, Brown vs. O'Keefe at Glenn Field, Smith at Murphy and West Fulton vs. Grady at Piedmont Park Polo Grounds, the last game being a non-league affair.

Solt Clouts 3 Homers For Hornets

CARROLLTON.—Right fielder Gene Solt blasted three home runs to lead the Carrollton Hornets to an 8-2 victory over the LaGrange Troopers in a Georgia-Alabama League baseball game here last night.

Solt batted only four times during the game which saw veteran southpaw Catayo Gonzalez scatter six Trouper hits to earn the triumph.

Leon (Buddy) Carter, LaGrange third baseman, also hit for the circuit. Carrollton got only seven hits off two Trouper hurlers.

Millers Win Again

ALEXANDER CITY, Ala.—Three eighth-inning singles provided the winning run as the undefeated Alexander City Millers defeated Griffin 8-7, here last night. Relief Pitcher Jack Jackson scored the winning tally after leading off the frame with a safety.

Bill Rucker collected two home runs to lead a nine-hit Miller attack on Johnny Ebelino, while Second Baseman Bobby Adams added two more one basers.

Layton Krohn started for the Millers, but was relieved by Jackson in the sixth. Griff collected 12 hits off the pair.

Bustle Wins

OPELIKA, Ala.—Lefty Bill Bustle scattered six Opelika hits as he pitched the Newnan Browns to a 7-3 triumph over the Owls here last night.

Bustle fanned eight. Ducky Franson led Newnan's attack with a single and double. The Browns collected only six safeties off three Owl hurlers, but took full advantage of seven errors by the home club.

Manager Woody Bottoms making his first active appearance of the season, got two singles for Opelika.

JUSTICE SAYS HE WILL NOT PLAY FOR PAY

RICHMOND, Va.—(AP)—The Times-Dispatch said last night that Charlie Justice, two-time All-America halfback at the University of North Carolina, had decided to reject all offers to play professional football.

In a dispatch from Chapel Hill, N. C., the Times-Dispatch said Justice had decided to stick by an earlier decision to become affiliated with the North Carolina Medical Foundation following his graduation in June.

Justice had been offered lucrative contracts by the Washington Redskins, of the National Football League, and the Richmond Rebels, of the American Football League.

Harry Seibold, president and owner of the Rebels, went to Chapel Hill today to prod Justice for a decision.

He was told by Justice, according to the Times-Dispatch: "You might as well know first. I've decided not to play pro football, with the Redskins, or anyone else. I'll stick with the Medical Foundation..."

West Point's Partridge Hurls Second No-Hitter for 3-0 Win

By JACK JACKSON

Truitt Partridge, the 125-pounder who gained fame as quarterback on West Point's crack football teams over the past two seasons, is making sure that the Red Devils' return to the baseball wars will be a success.

The rifle-armed righthander yesterday tossed his second no-hitter in his last three starts as he blanked Columbus High, 3-0, at West Point. Last week, Partridge had halted Talbotton, 7-0, without a safety.

It was his sixth triumph of the season and his fifth shutout. West Point has won eight, lost one and tied one.

GRANTLAND RICE

Ponder's Shadow Hovers Over Derby

FAME—AND YESTERDAY

Where is the laurel I almost won?
Where is the fame that I hoped to win?
Where is my place in the shining sun?
Where are the cheers from the roaring din?
Where is the far-off Derby thrust,
The old, old thrill or the gray remorse?
Where is the Aristides dust
Or the fading rose for the little horse?

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—There are more than a few horse players sitting with the shadow of a ghost today as they plan their betting campaign for the Seventy-sixth Derby. If there is one thing a horse player hates, it is to miss a big figure horse that justified his support. The ghost horse haunting the Louisville scene is Ponder—Ponder the imponderable.

It was just a year ago on the night before Col. Matt Winn's final Derby that we had dinner, along with several others, with Ben Jones, the Calumet trainer.

I am pretty sure now that Ben was spilling what he actually thought when he rated Ponder at 100 to 1. Since that Derby eve, Ponder has been an incredible performer for a 1949 long shot without a chance. He won the Derby. He won big stakes in Chicago and at other tracks. He came to California this past winter as Citation's supporting horse, and had to take over as the Calumet star when Citation couldn't make it. It was Ponder who won the $100,000 Maturity. He also won the $50,000 San Antonio Handicap at Santa Anita.

When the Calumet stable moved up to Tanforan later on, it was Citation who couldn't make it again and Ponder who added another $50,000 collection. The Derby ghost with the phantom chance a year ago has become one of today's great horses of the American turf. In addition to what he won in 1949, a big Ponder year, he is already headed for better than half a million dollars for 1950.

"He is a funny horse," Jimmy Jones told me last winter in California. "He likes, of course, to come from far behind. But now and then he breaks loose with the sprinters and stays right up front. He is one of the most interesting horses I ever handled. He seems to know exactly what he wants to do all the time."

Yet Ponder is the horse which moved to the post at 16 to 1 with only light support in the 1949 Derby.

The bettors went to Olympia, the sprinter. They were certain Olympia was a sure thing. Hadn't he won the two Experimental and the Wood? If not Olympia, then Capot. Capot would have to run with Olympia, then take on a new race in case Olympia tired, to stave off late challengers. Ponder was down. "How can I play Ponder?" one wild-eyed player said. "Even Jones doesn't like him. Look at his record."

His record was terrible. "Even one of my worst beat him," Larry MacPhail said. "Ponder never ran half a lick that day. He was 50 lengths from a Derby winner." But the Ponder ghost will hover over the betting board on Saturday and it may have a certain effect on the day's play. Not so many will be sure that some favorite or highly favored horse is a sure gamble.

If the Ponder of 1949 were in this present Derby, he would be 2 to 1 in place of 16 to 1. That's what makes picking a Derby winner just a little bit tougher than it looks to the casual outsider. There is always that element of chance—no matter what the race.

Horse and Rider A horse race belongs partly to the horse and partly to the rider. The horse is the more important member of the firm, but the rider can play a terrific role.

The incoming mob of tourists moving into Louisville today are figuring on this combination as they plan Saturday's assault on the mutual windows.

A big part of the mob, or crowd, is peering at these combinations:

Hill Prince—Arcaro.
Your Host—Longden.
Middleground—Boland.
Oil Capitol—Church.
Theory—Brooks.

The two toughest running-riding combinations look to be Hill Prince with Arcaro and Your Host with Longden. Boland, on Middleground, is still an apprentice. A fine young rider, but the winner of a single stake. The point is that Hill Prince, a come-from-behind, will need the finest sort of guidance to escape trouble. Even Arcaro couldn't handle Hill Prince in the Second Experimental. Just an average jockey might easily scramble up Hill Prince's Kentucky dream.

Longden and Your Host are perfectly matched. Longden, an able veteran, likes to head for the front and stay there as long as he can. Longden has been around too long and has packed away too much cash to take any big chances. Johnny would much rather be out alone. And Your Host can take him there for a mile and an eighth. A mile and a quarter? Many think so. Others are not so sure. In any event, Longden and Your Host match up as well as one could ask.

Middleground and Boland—Boland is one of the better apprentice riders. He rode well at Santa Anita last winter and he has been close to Arcaro at Jamaica this Spring. He has won only one stake but Maxie Hirsch believes he can handle the job and Hirsch ought to know.

Kenneth Church and Steve Brooks on Oil Capitol and Theory, respectively, have met before. Both are competent.

But when you get down to the juicy meat of the matter, Arcaro and Longden are the two jockeys who will get most consideration. Arcaro is after his fifth Derby and Longden was a Derby winner as far back as 1943 when he handled Count Fleet for the John Hertz. And one might as well remember that several jockeys and their assorted Derby mounts haven't been mentioned so far where anyone of the overlooked might be sniffing rose blooms late Saturday. It can happen just that way.

Richards Seeks 4,000th Win

LONDON—(AP)—Jockey Gordon Richards rode the 3,999th winner of his career yesterday. No man has ever ridden so many.

The veteran of 29 years in the saddle will celebrate his 46th birthday on Friday.

Richards has ridden 33 winners since the English flat racing season opened March 18. He stands a good chance of reaching 4,000 today since one of his mounts is a 1-to-10 favorite in a three-horse field.

He had three mounts yesterday at Sandown Park, with only one of them, the 112th time fanned nine.

Roswell Wins, 10-0

Billy Atcheson silenced Hope-Well on one hit as the Roswell Blues hammered out a 10-0 victory in a nonleague game last night at Sandtown Park, with only one hit on the Roswell diamond. Atcheson, all of them. It was the 112th time fanned nine.

HAVE YOU TASTED the Bourbon with the flavor all its own? It's Yellowstone... smoothly mellow and rich-tasting... all 4 years old... a favorite among Kentucky-made whiskies since 1872.

Strike by Umpires Averted in Mexico

Condensed from AP, UP and INS Wire Reports

Just when it looked as if the Mexican League umpires were going to call a strike, the government stepped in and settled the latest South of the Border baseball rhabarb.

After Shortstop Othello Renfro, of Torreon, kayoed an arbiter in Tuesday's game at Vera Cruz, the arbiters informed league officials that they would stage a mass walk-out unless Renfro was barred.

However, the government didn't give league officials a chance to act. Yesterday the Interior Department ordered deportation of Othello, a U. S. Negro. The government maintained that Renfro was "unworthy of the courtesy and hospitality Mexico shows foreigners."

OTHER BASEBALL—Boston baseball writers, peeved over being banned from the Boston Red Sox club house until 30 minutes after home games end, announced that they would carry their fight to General Manager Joe Cronin. Pres. Clarence Rowland headed another fight to make the Pacific Coast League exempt from the baseball draft in the baseball meeting now in progress at Cincinnati.

RACING—Washington and Lee students have petitioned the Supreme Court to have the W&L Swing played at this year's Derby instead of the traditional "My Old Kentucky Home." Students figure such a change would make Virginia's pride, Hill Prince, a sure thing. Said Pres. Francis P. Gaines: "I have never bet on a horse race, but if they play the Swing it seems Hill Prince would be an excellent investment."

Alfred Vanderbilt's Next Move annexed the Priorex Stakes at Jamaica. . . . At Garden State, Related led all the way to cop the Gloucester Purse feature and Teapoy romped home on top in the Brown Hotel Purse at Churchill Downs. . . . Gordon Glisson booted Star Fiddle across in front to win the Golden Gate Fields attraction.

THE ROUNDUP—Athletic Director Mose Krause announced that Notre Dame and Pennsylvania have signed for a football game at Franklin Field in 1952. . . . Mrs. Estelle Lawson Page won't compete in the Women's Southern Golf championship meet at Virginia Beach today. . . . Harold Killian, former TCU lineman, signed a pro pact with the Los Angeles Rams. . . . At Chicago, a panel of medical experts will make rigorous tests today to determine whether Ezzard Charles is physically fit.

The U. S. Golf Association revealed in New York that some changes are planned in the system employed to compute basic handicaps for men. Main revision is that basic handicaps should be computed from the lowest 10 of a player's last 50 scores, instead of the lowest 10 of an indefinite number of 50 or more scores.

Frank Stranahan, noted for his temperamental outbursts, did it again in Dallas. Frank took time out after losing in the first round of the Western Open to declare that "they ought to be playing the ladies' junior tournament here. I'll win a lot of tournaments this summer," he said, "but anybody can beat me on this pitch and putt course."

Mid-South Trackmen Run Here

By CHARLIE ROBERTS

The folks from Georgia expect to be most hospitable hosts to the folks from Tennessee at the annual Mid-South track meet Friday and Saturday on the well-cindered oval at Emory University. They are going to let the lads from the squirrel rifle State take home all the loving cups and trophies.

At least that is the way it would appear if results of early season dual meets are any indication, and they almost always are in the realm of track and field.

Baylor School for Boys, last year's winner of this same event at Georgia Tech here, is unbeaten again and has walloped the daylights out of everyone in sight. It is safe to say the Chattanooga ladies will get up a healthy enough sweat to enable them to cart home the great majority of the hardware.

The Red Raiders usually are paced in their raids by a swift named Teas, who romps the 100 and 220 in something like 10.1 and 23 flat. Another Joe named Swope skims over the high hurdles—college height—in about 18.6.

Much stock is placed in another Raider named Stock who circles the quarter-mile track in about 51 flat, a very nifty time for a high school 440 runner. A fellow who answers to the name of Hartman, on occasion, can stride out a 2:04 half-mile. You get the idea.

Major M. C. Paget, whose GMA teams several times have roared out of College Park to take top honors in the Baylor Relays, has no hopes for a title in this one, but his high hopes for his ace shot putter, Jim Teets. The West Virginia native has heaved the iron ball 49 feet, 3 inches once this year.

GMA, Riverside and Darlington are the three Georgia schools that will seek to fight back the challenge from the Volunteer State, which will be made by high stepping scantly clad from Baylor, McCallie, TMI, St. Andrews and possible Castle Heights and Columbia Military Academy.

Trials will be run off Friday and final Saturday, field events beginning at 1:30 p. m. and running events at 2 each day.

Oma, Weinberg Are Disqualified

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Both Lee Oma, of Detroit, running for a crack at the heavyweight championship, and Bill Weinberg, of New York, were disqualified for foul tactics here last night in the seventh round of a scheduled 10-round boxing bout.

Referee Earl Butler ordered both fighters out of the ring after almost seven full rounds of mauling, butting and heeling that drew constant boos from the estimated crowd of 3,500 in the Cincinnati Garden.

Oma, rated the No. 3 heavyweight in National Boxing Association rankings, weighed 194 and Weinberg 212½.

Emory Linksman Trim Mercer, 13-5

MACON—Emory's golfers defeated Mercer, 13-5, here yesterday. Al Shelander, of Emory, was medalist with a 73.

SUMMARY—Kirkland (E) defeated Hunt, 3-0; Brinsan (M) defeated Chisler, 3-0; Shelander (E) defeated Giffman, 3-0; Barnes (M) and Wirsch (E) tied 1½-1½.

Sears-Roebuck Employees To Fish at Mayport

Club 29, an organization composed of 29 employees of Sears-Roebuck who enjoy fishing, will make its first of two trips to Florida this weekend, going to Mayport.

The fishing club members will depart by chartered bus Friday night and will return Sunday.

BLACKWELL OUT WITH SORE HEEL

CINCINNATI—(AP)—Ewell Blackwell, Cincinnati Reds pitcher, went to a hospital yesterday with an abscess on his right heel.

Warren Giles, general manager of the club, said Blackie will be back in uniform in a day or two.

The tall righthander won his first game of the season last Sunday, holding Pittsburgh to five hits.

Campanella Injured; Edwards Fills In ST. LOUIS—(AP)—Roy Campanella, Brooklyn's ace catcher, will be out of the Dodgers' lineup three to four days, maybe more.

Campanella was injured in Monday's game with St. Louis. He slipped and fell while taking a throw from the outfield in the ninth inning. He pulled a muscle in his right leg.

Bruce Edwards will fill in for Campanella.

Smathers' Victory in Florida

A liberal Democrat, George Armistead Smathers, will replace Claude Denson Pepper, for 14 years United States Senator from Florida, in the next Congress.

Smathers won a smashing victory over the favored Pepper. The young man was one of Florida's best-known personalities when he entered the race. Today, after his unprecedented triumph over the veteran incumbent, with years of patronage strength behind him, Smathers appears as perhaps Florida's most promising contribution to the national political scene in this generation.

The editorialists and the politicians are busy analyzing his victory over the left-wing Pepper.

The Republicans try to read into it a severe rebuke to President Truman and the Fair Deal.

The anti-Dixiecrat Democrats see in it an illustration of what they mean by Democrats fighting out issues within the party and not breaking away to form splinter parties and reduce the effectiveness of the Democratic national organization. There is more substance to this view than all others.

The extreme reactionaries see in it a trend toward their policies.

The real meaning of the election is that Florida was fed up and weary of Claude Pepper and long had been.

Smathers is not, and will not be, a reactionary.

He took the stump for President Truman in 1948. His victory does give great strength to those who oppose the compulsory health insurance bill, generally, if erroneously, termed "socialized medicine." His election does not give strength to the extremists who would push through the Congress "brotherhood by law" and the jail-sanction FEPC. Smathers voted against the original Taft-Hartley labor bill as too extreme. He supports the Taft-Hartley law as a basic, necessary law for both management and labor. He is against deficit spending.

But in other Fair Deal matters, especially those in the field of foreign policy, he is on the side of the Administration.

He believes in the two-party system. Also, he is too intellectually honest to become a Dixiecrat.

The reactionaries will receive no aid and comfort from him.

He regards himself as a liberal Democrat and he ran with that label.

The National Administration is not dismayed by his victory. Claude Pepper was not a Communist. But he had left himself open to charges of being too much an appeaser of the Soviets. He also was vulnerable to charges of running with the hare and the hounds on other issues. He had presented himself as an anti-Truman presidential candidate when he could not persuade the convention leaders to adopt a draft-Eisenhower policy before the 1948 convention.

Florida was weary of him.

The news from Alabama is complex. Sen. Lister Hill and the leading candidates for Governor (there will be a runover in this race) were all anti-Dixiecrat and strongly loyal to the national party. Yet, revealing how local issues are separated from the national, the election of State Committeemen finds the Dixiecrats running dangerously near control.

Believing strongly in a two-party system and seeing in the Dixiecrat splinter groups a development dangerous to government in the United States, we earnestly hope the counting of votes will reveal a majority for the national party. The nation's future depends on the two-party system which some persons in Alabama, South Carolina and Mississippi seem blindly determined to destroy.

Best Wishes to Two Fine Atlantans

Col. Scott W. Allen, as grand a fellow as ever walked in shoe leather, has retired as President of Colonial Stores after 50 years of service. Succeeding him is another fine person about whom one may speak sincerely and happily. That is Joe Seitz.

Both are in the Horatio Alger, or American, tradition. Scott Allen was a Georgia farm boy who by diligence, intelligence and ambition became a great figure in the grocery business, developing one of the better-known chains. Joe Seitz came to this country from Switzerland at the age of 19. He, too, has given the company the same admirable qualities which brought Scott Allen to the top.

We wish them both all the best luck there is.

Why the Trolley Strike Was Postponed

Ministers went before the transit union committee and asked for a voiding of the strike decision.

They got it. All honor to the ministers.

But the observer of the scene cannot but fail to see the real situation. The union committee postponed the strike "in the public interest."

If it were in the public interest so to do, then it was true before the ministers arrived. Why did the committee not postpone it without the ministerial appeal if they were aware of, and agreed upon, the public interest?

The fact is most of the rank and file do not want a strike. The local union leaders know it. The Atlanta public knows the racket now. Jack up Birmingham wages one year. Then demand Atlanta come up to Birmingham. Next year demand another town come up to Atlanta. Next year Atlanta must come up to the level of wages paid in the most recently jacked-up city. That's dishonest "negotiating."

The public interest is at stake.

Let Mr. Ofsha Zimring and the Labor Bureau of the Midwest allow the Atlanta transit workers to settle this in their own interest.

If so, there will not be a strike 15 days from now.

The House Climbed Under an Umbrella

WASHINGTON—The Lower House was playing a brand of undiluted politics in passing over the President's protest a bill restoring to the Veterans' Administration building program 16,000 hospital beds, costing $237,000,000, which had been canceled out earlier by officials as not needed. It was the sort of political gesture that customarily comes in election years.

Because the bill passed overwhelmingly and without even a record vote, the United Press described it as "an uproarious rebuke to President Truman." But it was hardly that. Bearing in mind that it is an election year, what the House was doing was, to quote an old phrase, "climbing under an umbrella"—yielding to the pressure from veterans' organizations and business interests affected by the restricted hospital building program.

From statements made by Veterans' Administrator Carl R. Gray and other officials, it was clearly shown that the 16,000 additional hospital beds facilities are not needed. It would have been a waste of some $237,000,000 of the taxpayers' money. The facts that the VA now has upward of 3,700 hospital beds available for veteran occupancy which are not being used.

Another pertinent fact in the situation is that, as of a month or so ago, only about a third of the veterans hospitalized in VA facilities were receiving treatment for service-connected disability. Congress, in an effort to do everything right by the veterans, has provided an exceedingly liberal program for their medical care. A veteran's ailment does not have to be associated with his past military service for him to get hospital treatment free. The service-connected cases get first priority, but if there are vacant beds at any institution to which the veteran applies he can get one of these, regardless of the cause or origin of his ailment.

Back in February, when the last figures were available, the VA had some 70,000 hospital beds which were either vacant and ready for occupancy or were being used by veterans receiving treatment in non-service-connected cases. Yet Congress would build 16,000 more beds at a cost of more than $237,000,000.

Some people profess to see in the House action an indirect move toward socialization of medical care and hospitalization. Veterans are already receiving the benefits of socialized medicine, reflected in their ability to get free treatment for anything that ails them. If enough hospital facilities can be provided the Veterans' Administration by a generous Congress, the next step will be to have all VA hospitals thrown open to the families of veterans.

When it comes to that the rest of the country will have the right to demand the same thing. But the chances are that those House members who so enthusiastically voted to override the President's objection to the 16,000 additional hospital beds had no such scheme in mind. Most of them would probably have voted to uphold the President if the final decision had rested on their ballots. They were just playing a little politics with economy, remembering the congressional elections that lie ahead.

The Better Story Is Frank Smathers

George Smathers, who is handsome enough to cause Gregory Peck and others of the Hollywood male glamor set to feel like masculine hags, will be the new United States Senator from Florida, replacing the veteran Claude Pepper.

Smathers' career is one which revives belief in saguaries, stars of destiny and so on. Still three years shy of 40, he has moved from success to success, from the time he entered high school in Miami until his latest and most impressive political victory.

His enemies say he is a fellow who so carefully plans every move he never makes an error.

His friends, and even curious persons who take the trouble to investigate, know that isn't true. Nor is it good sense to explain it in terms of astrology or Delphic. Well educated, talented and observant, he plans and ventures boldly and well.

Father Perhaps the best explanation is the finest thing about Smathers—his father. The Smathers are North Carolina stock. Frank Smathers was a football and baseball star at the University of North Carolina. A graduate of the law school, he went to Atlantic City, N. J., to practice law. After a few years in which he lived largely off the free coffee and sandwiches found at Democratic political rallies, he had enough law practice to marry his sweetheart back in North Carolina. Woodrow Wilson appointed him a judge and he was at the peak of success when arthritis crippled him. A doctor said it was Florida or die. The Judge went there with three small children, one of them George, and began to practice law in a strange State with no friends. Within a few years he had established himself successfully. Arthritis returned. Since 1937 he has been confined to bed and chair, in constant pain.

Courage One of my fine experiences was spending a few hours with him while gathering material about his son. Soon to be the new United States Senator, his mind is sharp and his wit pointed. His hands are gnarled with the cruel tensions of arthritis. Yet, by holding a pencil between the swollen, twisted fingers he has written a story good enough for Reader's Digest and is halfway through a novel. During the campaign he helped edit his sons' speeches and provided valuable advice. No step was taken without consulting the Judge.

The Smathers family is closely knit. Father and children are enormously proud of Mrs. Frank Smathers, who knows almost everyone in Miami. She is a willing victim of much teasing. The Judge, for example, says they are not sure whether she knows everyone in Miami, but that Mrs. Smathers isn't. Her journeys downtown are a procession of greetings and handshaking.

Story The Judge has a favorite story which is almost certainly apocryphal but which he delights to tell, with Mrs. Smathers smiling benignly. The story relates that Mrs. Smathers was on a train from Miami to New York. A gentleman sitting up the way in the Pullman car had a familiar look about him. Mrs. Smathers was sure she had met him. But the name would not come. On the way to the diner she bowed and the gentleman stood and bowed, but did not speak.

"On the way back," says the Judge, his face beaming, "Mother couldn't stand it any longer. She had to know. She stopped before the man and said, 'Pardon me, but I know I have met you somewhere.'"

As the Judge reaches the kicker line of his story he always looks to see how Mrs. Smathers is reacting. Usually she is patient, having heard it dozens of times as the Judge entertained favored visitors with it.)

"The man stood," says the Judge, "and said, with great courtesy, 'My name is Jack Dempsey, madam, and I am sure we never met in this way.'"

Boys Students of childhood environment would do well to consult the Judge. He did not allow pain and suffering to keep him away from his boys. He taught them to work. They always had chores to do. He taught them thrift. He made them learn to box and encouraged them to participate in athletics. The new Senator was a star at basketball and track. But he also subjected them, at an early age, to great books. He insisted on them learning to recite and debate. His favorite recipe for raising a boy is to keep the boy from developing a big, strong neck and a weak little head. The Judge was a developer.

The results are pretty fine—and George Smathers is but one of the substantiating exhibits.

The evidence seems to be that a good, patient father can be an asset to his boys.

We Have Only Begun the Job

ROME—According to the official timetable, we are at the midway point in the reconstruction of Europe, which is to be completed by 1952. The fact of the matter, however, is that the situation already suggests that the official timetable is worthless.

The rebuilding of the war-shattered political and economic life of the Western World is going to require an American attack on a much broader front and with a far more elastic time limit.

The temptation, of course, is to say, "To hell with it, let the Europeans stew in their own juice. But here we run into the grim blackmail of the cold war. If we duck our responsibility, Western Europe will rather soon become a new province of the Soviet empire. And we in the United States will experience the equivalent of a gigantic military defeat, probably without a shot having been fired."

Progress In no sense does this mean that the American investment in Europe to date has been wasted. Here in Rome, for instance, only two and a half years ago, a great crisis of misery impended. The economy was at a standstill. If America had not acted the Communists would surely have come to power.

That time now seems incredibly distant. The Italian recovery, made possible by Marshall aid, has, as it were, glided this superbly beautiful city with a splendid glitter of prosperity. The life of the people is still inferior, but there are still 2,000,000 jobs in Italy. But in Italy the gap between privileged and underprivileged has been cruelly wide. The profusion of luxury that everywhere meets the eye in Rome in the Holy Year means that a semblance of normal economic life has now returned here.

In the political sphere, the same rule holds good. The government of Prime Minister Alcide De Gasperi is at least a stable, non-Communist government, comprising many able men. By the stern police measures of the bullet-headed little Minister of the Interior, Mario Scelba, the authority of the Italian state has at least been restored.

Problems These achievements, which seemed almost unimaginable two and a half years ago, are certainly not to be scorned. But the smiling surface of Italy in 1950 must none the less be taken at face value.

Nothing has been done, to begin with, about the basic social and economic problems that confront Italy. Land reform is at last being discussed by the Government, but only very tepidly, and as a result of direct Communist pressure. As for Italian overpopulation, widespread joblessness in the midst of prosperity and the appalling disparity between rich and poor, these topics are not even being talked about.

In part, to be sure, this is because the Marshall Plan administration has tended to emphasize increasing Italian national production at the expense of everything else. But the real cause of this curious political-economic sterility in Italy is another gap in the national recovery. A normal political life has not yet been restored.

The De Gasperi government in effect enjoys a monopoly on power because the Communists are the only alternative. Prime Minister De Gasperi himself and the wisest men around him sincerely desire to tackle Italy's great problems. But a monopoly situation leads to complacency.

The sterile centrist government, staying in power because most people do not want the Communists, because the police are efficient, and because of Marshall aid, is a European phenomenon, to be found in other countries besides Italy. But such governments cannot endure forever. Even Marshall aid is not an abruptly terminated. The Communists must win eventually, unless the present political monopoly can be broken. The creation of a healthy, vigorous, independent Left Wing is the basic necessity of the restoration of normal political life in Europe.

Fear Finally, the situation is rendered all the more dangerous by another thing that has not happened. Neither Italy nor Western Europe as a whole has recovered as yet from the neurosis left behind by two great world wars. The symptoms have been muted by the progress of the last two years. But the neurosis remains and still makes the Western Europeans feel that they are not masters of their own fate—that they are hardly responsible, indeed, for whatever the future may bring to them.

There is no reason to despair. The Western European neurosis can be cured almost overnight, for example, if the Western Europeans can be given a sense of security from aggression. All else will then follow. But it is now urgent to grasp how inherent the weakness of the situation in Europe is, because this is why Western Europe is so vulnerable to the tactics of terror the Kremlin is now adopting. If the right countermeasures are not quickly taken in Washington, the Kremlin has only to "buff and to puff and to blow the house down."

'And How Old Did You Say the Child Was?'

The Price of Progress

MACON—The year was 1940. The nation was on its way to war. Wide-awake communities were already out after the military installations and defense plants which were to make the U. S. the arsenal of democracy.

Macon (1940 pop. 57,865) was going along very much as it had for a couple of decades. As one merchant put it, "You could have fired a 12-gauge load of birdshot down the middle of Cherry Street without hitting anything but pigeons."

Spurred by a full, front-page editorial in The Sunday Telegraph and News, a mass meeting was called to discuss the advisability of an all-out effort to bring in new industry and population. Incidentally, the title of the editorial, "Macon, the Sleeping Giant," was an exaggeration only in its reference to size. The most enthusiastic member of the local Chamber of Commerce could not deny that, in the use of the word "sleeping," the caption writer had given Macon the benefit of the doubt.

It was a good meeting, one of the few things of its kind out of which I have ever seen any real results come. But somehow, 10 years later, I remember vividly but one of the talks which were made. That came late, after most of the get-up-and-go youngsters had had their say. It came from one of the town's old merchants, a beloved if crotchety old gentleman who epitomized the status quo.

"Look," he said, "Macon's a good town, the kind of place where you can go home for dinner and take a nap afterwards if you want. Everybody knows everybody and if I want to close the store and go fishing Thursday afternoons, everybody understands. As for all you fellows that are damned and determined to make a hustling, bustling city out of Macon, there's a place 90 miles up the road that is exactly what you want. I don't see why you all don't go on up there and leave us alone!"

He couldn't stand in the way of progress, of course. Not many men can, or at least not for long. Macon got its Army camp and aviation base. It took the great Air Corps Depot from Ellenwood and the Navy Ordnance Plant from several other towns which thought they had it. It worked Carl Vinson overtime but, before the long-time citizenry of the overcrowded community could cry, "Hold, enough," Macon was the derndest war-boom town in Georgia, maybe, outside of Oak Ridge, in the South.

The war ended. But not Macon's newfound spirit. It never lost its impetus, never broke its stride. Giant new industries were brought in to take the place of the military facilities. Bulging weekly envelopes to thousands of skilled laborers replaced the monthly two-day binges of military pay rolls.

Macon today is a prosperous, progressive, industrialized city. It will be badly disappointed if the current census doesn't give it well over 100,000 population. Most of its growing pains are over. But many of the inevitable headaches of a metropolitan community remain.

One wonders, watching its traffic jams, seeing exasperated citizens drive around the block looking for a place to park, and viewing the crowds at bus stops, one wonders how many Maconites recall the prophetic words of the old-timer . . . and wish they'd listened to him.

Sen. George Deserves Better

Editor Constitution: One of the finest and most noble men the State of Georgia has ever produced is Walter F. George, our senior Senator from the little neighboring town of Vienna. Mr. George has, through the years, served the people of his State and his country with unselfishness, honesty and integrity. He has been the backbone of conservative democracy, guiding his colleagues with wisdom and experience through the most trying times. Walter George was born a gentleman, attained the utmost heights of scholarship; he is truly a statesman, not a politician, much less one of the more common cheap variety. It was the hope of most loyal Georgians, I believe, that, in honor of his long and unstinted public service, that he be allowed the honor of an uncontested election. Not that others have no right to seek his seat. I have that right. You have it. But in tribute to a good, kind, capable servant, it would have been a gesture of appreciation for all that he has given of his many years for the good of his native State and his country.

Alex McLennan has chosen to contest Sen. George. That, too, is all right, but Mr. McLennan has burst forth with a blasphemy of accusation as to Mr. George's character and integrity that has aroused wrath in the hearts of us that know Mr. George, and we will show it come June 28.

What little political influence Mr. McLennan has was gained by personal appointment, not by the people's mandate. Even he who bestowed this appointment on him, regrets. It will be written on the ballots that an overwhelming majority of the voters of Georgia not only regret it, but resent it.

Equal Justice

Editor Constitution: In reading your article in The Constitution concerning John Carrigan's electrocution and hearing different radio programs about equal justice for all, I can't help but wonder why is it that a man like Carrigan is immediately put to death on the date set, without a reprieve or a stay of any kind. When a man like John Wallace is granted a stay of execution time after time, when both were convicted in the courts for murder, I just wonder if it's because of his prominence and money or what.

Housing Thanks

Editor Constitution: Thank you for the excellent editorial in the April 16 issue of The Atlanta Constitution concerning the operations of the Hospital Authority. We are grateful for your interest and support.

'Devil's Troublemakers'

Editor Constitution: There has been a lot said both pro and con, of the disgraceful episode occurring at Unadilla, Ga., a few weeks ago. But let me say in the beginning that I am bitterly opposed to mixing of races. I believe that Almighty God created all mankind. And for some reason, unknown to us, He created many different types and colors of the human race. And did he not separate them Himself?

The Negroes have always looked to the white man for guidance. The members of this Baptist Church near Unadilla felt like doing honor to this old Negro preacher who had served them so many years as their pastor. They invited these white preachers to be present at this service to speak a few words of praise for their Pastor for a job well done and for which praise is due. For the record established by this Negro preacher and his church is seldom if ever excelled by any church. They were not thinking or asking for social equality, or mixing the races. They just thought it would honor their Pastor at this retirement service to have the white preachers present to speak a few words. And it was their right duty to do so.

The Negro is a human being endowed with an immortal soul, and it is just as precious in the sight of God as yours or mine. And let me say to these agitators, the devil's troublemakers, that the color appearing on the outside of the temple does not affect the treasures within.

Now We Can Smile Virtuously

WASHINGTON—They're hanging Danny Deever in the morning. So they gave Johnny Maragon eight months to two years in the clink. Pending appeal, of course. Johnny Maragon was the pushing and obliging little shot who got caught trying to be a big shot, peddling "influence" as it is known around here, buzzing about the White House amiably and importantly and in the outer corridors of Government departments, posing as a friend of the mighty.

They didn't get him for that—no. This city is full of smart guys doing that. They got him for alleged perjury about his bank accounts and about that perfume he was charged with smuggling into the country while on a Government mission to Greece.

So now, virtuously, we can sit back smugly that they've got Johnny Maragon, and comfort ourselves that righteousness prevails in Government; and the really big fellows around here who get the big things done for really big clients and interests, but are smooth about it and always strictly legal, you may be sure, can look down their noses disdainfully at this crude fellow who bothered with peanut business.

No one need condone Johnny Maragon's operations to recognize at the same time that his business, which seemingly was profitable enough, affected favorably a few people, while the real "influence" magnates do their business in major economic and financial matters involved in legislation that affects millions of people.

Johnny Maragon cannot hold a candle to such as these, nor to such as the group of oil millionaires from the Southwest who gathered at a local hotel to celebrate passage by Congress of the Kerr Bill to exempt their natural gas business from regulation by the Federal Power Commission, which, fortunately for millions of us consumers, subsequently was vetoed by President Truman, much to their chagrin.

These know their way among key figures in Congress in both Democratic and Republican parties. They play for high stakes. It is all perfectly legal, surely, just as, on the other hand, are the activities of agents and lobbyists for labor and social welfare organizations. But it is good every so often to remind ourselves of their function and their influence.

Johnny Maragon offers an opportunity to do that by contrast.

It was not just party loyalty, for instance, that brought together a group of big oil men at the $100-a-plate Jefferson-Jackson Day banquet in a huge auditorium a few weeks back. Those fellows are what we call "realistic."

Oil men had their eyes on the Kerr Bill, as they have it on the bill to remove jurisdiction over oil-bearing tidelands from the Federal Government to the States which always have been found more amenable about regulation, and on the bill to increase depletion allowances for tax purposes in oil-drilling operations.

These interests and others are represented here, in and out of season, by skillful lawyers, some of them formerly with official positions in the Truman, Roosevelt and previous administrations, as well as by lobbyists who look after their business as individual members of organized groups—steel, utilities, real estate, and the like. They know how to get circuitous legal language in legislation and administrative orders to protect their clients and groups, as has been revealed time after time.

It has always been so. They operate at the center of things, not around the edges, as do smaller fry of the Maragon variety. They have of late become more powerful and more vocal, exploiting the confusion caused by the Communist exposes, so that they have been able to stop virtually all social welfare measures. Let's not forget the bigger picture in assessing the operations of Johnny Maragon.

FRED OTHMAN

The Gentlemen Also Prosper

WASHINGTON—All the clients of the Continental Press Service, which delivers horse race news by telegraph, are gentlemen of the highest moral character. And also prosperous. Some of these babies pay $4,000 and $5,000 and $6,000 a week, on every Saturday night, for flashes on which they hang on at the tracks across the nation. Their reputations, every one, are spotless. If they do business with bookies, the management is unaware of it.

"Now take this E. J. Coggins, who buys your news service in Little Rock, Ark.," suggested Sen. Ernest McFarland, Democrat, Arizona, in charge of the Senate's gambling investigation. "What about him?"

"A very fine gentleman," said Thomas J. Kelly, the big, bald general manager of Continental in Chicago. "Why, he is a former deacon of a church."

"Now he's a backslider?" suggested Sen. Charles W. Tobey, Republican, New Hampshire. "I wouldn't know about that," replied Kelly. "He's a wonderful man."

"I am a deacon myself," replied Sen. T. "Would you call that an asset, or a liability?" All he knew, insisted Kelly, was that Deacon Coggins was one of Little Rock's most estimable citizens.

"I can see the halo around his head now," said Sen. Tobey. He wondered whether the deacon or any of the 20 other clients of Continental passed the race news along to bookmakers. Kelly couldn't say as to that. He just wouldn't know. And, furthermore, it was none of his business. Sen. Tobey exploded.

"That's just guff!" he roared. "We're not darn fools. . . . You know damn well this news goes to the bookies. . . . Cut out the word 'damn,' Mr. Reporter."

The general manager of the world's mightiest racing news service, said by some witnesses in sworn testimony to be the strongest link in a national crime syndicate, smiled at him. Kelly, to quote him exactly, never had heard of no-crime connections. His lawyer called the charges ridiculous. He said the selling of racing news was a legitimate business.

The customers, it turned out, are served by 6,000 miles of leased wires. Each one of them, in turn, had his own local wire service, reselling the news to mysterious people interested in same. Maybe they're bookies; maybe they're not. Kelly doesn't know.

"Now about this man, William Molasky, in St. Louis," continued Sen. McFarland. "What kind of a person is he?"

"A very fine gentleman," replied Kelly. "Of impeccable reputation?" queried Sen. Tobey.

"Uh, yeah," said Kelly.

"He just happened to have served a year and a day for stealing $77,000 from his fellow taxpayers in an income tax fraud," said the Senator. "And you say he is a fine citizen. What good is your testimony about these people? I mark it zero."

Kelly continued to smile. It developed further that a past owner of Continental was murdered a few years back. Then one Eddie McBride presented the business to his son, Eddie, Jr., who now is sole proprietor.

Young Eddie didn't attend the inquiry. Kelly said he didn't know anything about his $2,300,000 annual business. And, anyhow, he's too busy at school in Florida, studying law. When he graduates, maybe he can be his own mouthpiece. That is, after he learns how his enterprise works.

JAY G. HAYDEN

Mr. Truman Takes on a Tough Job

Westbrook Pegler is on vacation. His column will be resumed about May 23.

WASHINGTON—If in the speaking campaign he is launching next week President Truman expects to strengthen his party's hold on the House of Representatives, he is banking on a midterm accomplishment that has been achieved only once in the last 90 years.

Responding to the first impetus of President Roosevelt's something-for-nothing New Deal spending, the nation's voters in 1934 increased the Democratic over-all majority in the House from 191 to 209.

But aside from that instance, from the first midterm of Ulysses S. Grant in 1870 until 1946, when the Democrats under the President Truman lost the House decisively, voting strength of the President's party in the House invariably has slumped in midterm.

Generally the Senate has trended the same way, but with more exceptions due to the fact that only a third of that body is up for election in any one year. The most startling variation between House and Senate results was in 1890—President Benjamin Harrison's midterm—when the Democrats gained eight seats in the Senate. Admission of six new States—Idaho, Montana, North and South Dakota, Washington and Wyoming—influenced the 1890 Senate result.

In the midterm election of 1902, both Republicans and Democrats gained House seats, but with a net effect of reducing the Republican majority which President Theodore Roosevelt had inherited from his elected predecessor, William McKinley.

In eight of the 20 midterm congressional elections, 1870 to 1946 inclusive, the party of the President in office lost control of the House. These were the Republican Party under Grant in 1874, Arthur in 1882, Harrison in 1890, Taft in 1910 and Hoover in 1930; and the Democratic Party under Cleveland in 1884, Wilson in 1918 and Truman in 1946.

In all the latter instances, excepting 1874 and 1946, loss of the House in midterm was followed by loss of the presidency two years later. Rutherford B. Hayes won the presidency doubtfully in 1876, while his Republican Party was losing the House and dropping nine seats in the Senate. In 1946 Mr. Truman not only reversed the ominous omen of a midterm congressional defeat, but his party decisively reclaimed both branches of Congress.

As since disclosed, of course, this sweeping victory did not spell control of Congress for Mr. Truman. Due mainly to defection of approximately one-third of the Democratic membership, hailing from the South, Mr. Truman's domestic legislative proposals have continued to meet defeat in this Congress just as much as in the previous Republican Eightieth Congress.

One of the President's toughest jobs on his impending tour will be to explain to the voters why he has been unable to win approval of his measures, despite a large Democratic majority in both houses of Congress.

The most obvious reason why Presidents generally have been so unsuccessful in midterm elections is that local issues predominate in congressional contests. In each State or district both

No Early Tobacco Opening, Please

(Lowndes County News)

We believe it will be a mistake to set an early opening of the Georgia-Florida tobacco marketing season in 1950. A date even as early as that of last year will not be good. For many years it has been a custom to open these markets on the last Thursday in July. Last year the date was moved up to Tuesday and the wisdom of that move is debatable.

The 1950 crop has gotten off to a very bad start. There were some planters whose tobacco beds supplied a surplus of plants. Such farmers were enabled to get their entire acreage planted early. Many others lost their entire beds and have been delayed. Plants from south Florida have brought inflated prices and even those plants failed to supply the demand.

There will be some acreage set out as late as the first week in May. To open the market early this year will certainly work a great hardship on those with late crops. Early selling seasons rush late producers into too hasty curings and the tobacco does not have an opportunity to properly season or to have the attention in grading that it should have.

Fight Unit Vote Extension!

(W. D. Tutt in Elberton Star.)

The politicians who control the State have largely disfranchised citizens of the large cities in primary elections, and, unless a determined fight is made on the constitutional amendment to be submitted to the people in November, they will also extend the county unit system to general elections. The county unit system is manifestly unfair, but, with a Legislature made up so largely of members from the smaller counties, it will be impossible to effect a repeal of the law.

Soviets Ahead In H-Bomb Progress

NEW YORK—Some people in the news: Kenneth De Courcy, the British pamphleteer who sprang into international fame by accurately reporting one of the most momentous news stories of recent years—Russia's possession of and test of an A-bomb—disowns the clairvoyant role attributed to him.

"I don't know anything more than embassy and military people know," he said in New York, before flying back to London. "The difference is that I'm in a position to tell what I know."

The stocky, 41-year-old Englishman, who drops his earth-quaking role every afternoon for a few games of squash, now asserts:

1. Russia is a year ahead of us on development of the H-bomb, because of information supplied by the traitor Fuchs, and probably will test its first one this Summer;

2. The U. S. S. R. is stockpiling A-bombs at the rate of four a month;

3. Russia's navy will have 500 of the latest type long range submarines by 1951 and has developed an atomic torpedo which can be shot into harbors—thus making the ports untenable for long periods.

On his lecture tour in this country DeCourcy accused top

The hearing foundation, sponsors of National Hearing Week (next week), has compiled some arresting facts, about deafness. More than 15,000,000 Americans have impaired hearing. Of these, 3,000,000 are children. The hearing of most of these could have been saved if parents were as ear conscious as they are eye and teeth conscious.

Gethsemane—just one word but speaking more to the human heart than many volumes.

Lightly we sometimes say we pass through Gethsemane. Though we be ever so serious, we cannot approach the torture of that garden experience of our Lord.

From the Father's throne He had come. "All things were made by Him; and without Him was not anything made that was made . . . He came unto His own, and His own received Him not."

Now all seemed in vain. Was His ministry in the Father's name. His burden for the sins of humanity to be nullified by the death of a culprit upon the cross?

Out of the loneliness, the agonizing sweat as it were great drops of blood came the victory: "Nevertheless now what I will, but what thou wilt."

"And they came to a place which was named Gethsemane." (Mark 14:32.)

Grant, Lord, that we may know Thee, the fellowship of Thy sufferings, the power of Thy resurrection.

Dr. Brady Questions and Answers

GERMICIDAL LAMP

P. T. A. is thinking about installing germicidal lamp in class rooms. What do you think of it? (M. R. B.)

Answer—Germicidal lamps have a limited field of usefulness. They are harmless and "help" to some unknown extent. Valuable in nurseries, they seem less effective in public places. They cannot compensate for lack of observance of the established rules of hygiene.

YOUNG FOLKS AND OLD FOLKS

Came here to care for my 85 year-old father, a follower of your teachings for many years. Instead, he's taking care of me. Never looked or felt better in 53 years. Wish I had known about all this earlier. (Mr. J. W.)

Answer—You might send self-addressed, stamped envelope and request the pamphlet "Young Folks and Old Folks."

HAPPY DAYS NOW— NOT CONSTIPATED

"I feel happier, younger now, not constipated! Eating your ALL-BRAN does so much for me! What wonderful relief, after so many pills and medicines! Ever your friend, W.H. Rooney, Detroit 2, Mich. Just one of many unsolicited letters from ALL-BRAN users. If you suffer from constipation due to lack of dietary bulk, try eating an ounce of crisp Kellogg's ALL-BRAN daily, drink plenty of water! If not completely satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, Battle Creek, Mich. Get DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!"

Miss Haley's Marriage To Mr. Brown Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene M. Haley announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Patricia Ann Haley, to Cecil J. Brown, the ceremony having taken place Sept. 28, 1949, at Aiken, S. C., with the Rev. G. Robertson officiating.

The lovely brunette bride is in her junior year at Atlantic Christian College in Wilson, N. C. She had previously graduated from Napsionia, where she belonged to the Sunev Sorority. At college she is a member of the Delta Sigma sorority and is on the staff of the school paper.

Mrs. Brown's mother is the former Miss Annabel Bayley, of Atlanta.

Mr. Brown is the son of Mrs. W. C. Brown and the late Mr. Brown of Wilmington, N. C. He graduated from the New Hanover High School in Wilmington, and received his B. A. degree from Atlantic Christian College last June. He took post graduate work at Duke University for one semester, and is now affiliated with the North Carolina

Mrs. Garland To Represent President's Wife

Mrs. Reuben Garland, Regent of the Atlanta Chapter DAR, has received a signal as well as national honor in her selection to represent Mrs. Benjamin Harrison, wife of U. S. President General of the DAR, at the forthcoming diamond jubilee convention of the National Society Sons of the American Revolution. The convention to be held on May 15 at Atlantic City, will be featured by an outstanding program—one of the speakers will be Ex-President Herbert Hoover and every U. S. President's wife will be represented in a "Fashion Show of History." Mrs. Garland will wear a duplicate of the gown Mrs. Harrison wore at her husband's Presidential inauguration, and which now appears in the Smithsonian Institution in Washington. The Atlanta's measurements have been sent to New York where her gown, as well as those of other participants, is being made.

Mrs. Garland was selected for this role by the newly-elected DAR President General, Mrs. James Patton, of Ohio, and by John Finger, of New York, President General of the Sons of the American Revolution. Mr. and Mrs. Garland, the former a State President of the SAR, will leave on May 13 for Atlantic City.

Mrs. Olmstead To Be Speaker

Agnes Reesor Olmstead, Home Economics Editor of The Constitution will be one of the experts on the "Career Day" program to be sponsored today by the Harris County Associated Women of the Farm Bureau in Chipley.

The program is slanted toward the junior and senior students of Harris County's four high schools and will take place in the Hamilton High School Auditorium. The program will serve as an intensive one-day vocational guidance short course.

Mrs. Olmstead will speak on high school preparation advisable; further study necessary; personality traits that help; probable starting position and salary; possible advancement and other related subjects.

HOSTESS AT MOUNDLAND

Mrs. Equen in New Role

Mrs. Murdock Equen will leave today for Greenwood, Miss., where she will visit her brother-in-law, Stanard Equen, and will serve as official hostess at his plantation home, Moundland, for the Mississippi Garden Club convention.

The Club will hold its annual convention in Greenwood today and tomorrow, and Moundland will be one of the five handsome Delta plantation homes comprising a tour for the visitors. Mrs. Equen is a past president of the Garden Club of Georgia.

Yesterday Mrs. Equen entertained at luncheon at the Piedmont Driving Club in compliment to Mrs. Martha Brown Edmondson, of Highlands, N. C., who is spending several days at the Athletic Club. Invited to meet the honor guest was a group of Atlantans who have Summer homes at Highlands and are accustomed to spend the season there together. Mrs. Edmondson, a popular Highlands hostess, has a beautiful home on Little Yellow Mountain where Mrs. Equen also has a home.

JESSIE'S Notebook by JESSIE DE BOTH

Spicy Dessert follows a bland meal as surely as contrast makes good eating. Keep this list handy: A spice cake served with fruit. A spicy hot gingerbread "shortcake" with poached apples. Spiced nuts over ice cream. All tasty! Now—more ideas.

It's Good To Know that my own advice to you—to clean your refrigerator with baking soda—is just what the experts recommend. Yes, 22 leading manufacturers say that soda is the way to keep a refrigerator really sweet and clean. As for me, I know no finer product than Arm & Hammer or Cow Brand Baking Soda. This pure bicarbonate of soda purifies and deodorizes so completely, in its own effective way, that my refrigerator is sparkling clean with just one weekly soda bath. And soda leaves no grit—never mars or scratches. Soda is safe with food—keeps your refrigerator safe for food yet its protection costs less than 1¢ a week. Do try it!

Wipe inside of refrigerator with soda on a damp cloth. Wash ice trays in soda solution—3 tablespoons to quart of water.

LET'S SEE NOW

Swoon! The Shiek Is Back

By DORIS LOCKERMAN
Constitution Associate Editor

Pauline called. "I'm leaving," she caroled gaily, "to tote roses to Valentino's tomb! Thought you'd like an item for the paper."

She swooned verbally.

"This Rudy Rudolph," she went on, "really had something, in case you were too immature to notice at the time. He was terrific! No wonder the girls fainted in his movies. Have you seen him lately?"

I told her I thought he was dead.

"Oh, he has passed on, of course," said Pauline, with pain in her voice, "but his kind never dies! I mean did you see him on television last night?"

"On the Beale Show?" I tried hard to be helpful, "You mean as a blithe spirit?"

"No, silly, in 'The Eagle.' It was a movie they made in the days when Vilma Banky was a Czarina and Rudolph was a Cosack guard and Vilma was in love with Rudy and he was not in love with her and he took a powder when she tried to trip him into becoming a general . . . the easy way."

"Listen, you should have seen it, and you'd have understood a lot of things. In the first place, The Shiek was a quarter of a century ahead of his time. You know the movies were silent in those days—and was that a relief a couple of times last night . . . but anyway the rest of the actors in those days jerked around like puppets on strings, trying to get it across, without words. They stamped around like they had tamed their backs, rolling their eyes, arching their brows and tearing their hair . . . but not my boy Rudy."

"He was subtle. He just stood still, like he was holding a power house of hate and passion and excitement in leash, and let the emotions snuggle around his face. He didn't grin like the others when he smiled, he just glided a different look around and you could see that he was suppressing the deepest kind of humor. His glances at women were not leers at all, but little caresses that did the trick without half trying."

"And such lovelinking, my dear . . . I am disintegrated!" She paused.

"Even with that greasy old makeup they used, he was sensational. There he was with sideburns long enough for Old Hickory, and doe-eyes that pointed in toward his nose instead of up and out like Vogue magazine says to do it, and a corny costume that we've seen a hundred times in the old flickers, and he looked but divine."

"How did Vilma look?"

"Well, if you must know, she looked ghastly, simply ghastly. Frumpest woman you ever saw. She was wearing that tight little rouch-mouth they used to paint on her, thin lips, and her hair was all over her face. But literally all over her face. I kept thinking Rudy would reach over and run his hands through it and get some of it out of her eyes, but he didn't. He didn't love her, of course, that was why. He wouldn't pretend, even for the movies. He was sincere . . ."

"You think I'm crazy?"

"There's nothing then but a contented little hum coming from the other end of the wire . . ."

Furs get dirty too!

Would you wear anything sixty days without cleaning?

Just as a household oil mop picks up and holds dust, dirt and grime so do the natural oils in your furs. It is impossible to shake out the dust and grime that accumulates in a season's wear. Stop and think! Even if you wear your furs only on Saturdays, Sundays and Holidays, you wear them at least sixty days a year. Regardless of color, two to six months' wear means your furs must be cleaned at least once a year. Clean furs WEAR LONGER and LOOK BETTER.

ReVitalife CUSTOM FUR CLEANING

ReVitalife cleans your fur right down to the "Heart" of the pelt (linings too). ReVitalife includes Repello WEATHERPROOFING to retard the natural evaporation of fur oils. Preserve the beauty. Protect the pelt. Keep your furs looking lovelier longer. We are proud to recommend ReVitalife fur cleaning.

Short by Day, Long for Night

Ah, tickle fashion . . . The girls who chopped their hair off about the length of their little brother's mop, are shopping around these days for a switch, a chignon or a hank of hair to make them look more fetching in the evening.

And Joseph Battel, who has just come back to Adolphe's Harper Method Beauty School after almost a year as consultant in the Southeast for the Harper Method System, is one who welcomes the trend with equanimity. French-born, raised in a Swiss-born associate, Adolphe Michel, both spent their apprentice years in Europe making wigs, and they are not awed at all by a request for an Empress Josephine coiffure or a Flora Dora curl. They have many wigs in current use, both for the too-proud-to-be-bald types and the less vain victims of unfortunate accidents that have affected the hair.

The current bias toward more hair need frighten no one who has just indulged in a crew cut. Battel says, because short hair will be around for a long time. It is youthful, convenient, fresh and flattering to many, "and there are as many ways to interpret it as there are people . . . It is something like Toscanini playing Dixie. You hardly knew it was the same old song, did you?"

Battel, thoroughly trained in the care of hair, believes style is less important than shining, healthy locks, and once health is achieved, fashion reflects more glamorously.

The Harper Method gnan has conviction about his own business, too. While he deprecates the fact that Georgia has no minimum wage laws and that some beauty operators find themselves "in pitiful categories while gaining experience, he hopes for the day when there will be no tipping and no need for it."

"I am not always popular because of my stand on this issue," Battel admits, "but it embarrasses me. I begin to feel that my customers are friends, and when they offer me a tip that changes everything. I always tell the ml am paid for my service, and if I have pleased them, I am delighted."

THEIR ROYAL MAJESTIES

Let Your Baby Play

(Editor's Note: This is the fourth in a series of articles on Their Royal Majesties—Babies—and written in recognition of National Baby Week.)

By ANNE CAIN

Psychiatrists tell us that many of the tragic misfits of the adult world are people who, as children, never learned to play.

Your baby, small citizen that he is, is expected to live up to certain responsibilities and duties, even though they be simple ones, such as sleeping and eating when you expect him to. Along with those duties, he begins very early in life to learn to enjoy himself—and the parent who recognizes this need and encourages it and participates in it is laying the foundation for a healthy mental adulthood for her child.

Tiny babies are usually placid little people, content to admire their hands and the hands that provide them with life's necessities, but as a baby gets a few months under his safety-pins his need for expanding becomes greater, and the opportunities for giving him enjoyment and getting pleasure from his growth increase. Every young baby should have exercise every day, even if it is simply putting him down on the floor to stretch his arms and legs and arch his back. A baby who is confined to his bed may develop normally, but he is far more likely to be the baby who cries excessively, or the baby who doesn't finish his bottle, or won't go to sleep.

Little backs need resting and a change is often the best rest, as our busy executives will attest. So get your baby down on the floor, or let him play on mother's bed for a little while, or carry him about the house with you for a few minutes. His alertness will increase, and if you make it the treat it should be, his good humor to will increase.

A year baby grows, and becomes a runabout without wheels, try to provide him with toys which will help him direct the boundless energy which comes with this stage of development. The old adage about idle hands is true a thousand times when the hands suddenly find themselves able to reach almost anything they have had their eyes on for months. A baby who is chugging around in front of a milk wagon, or pushing a bell-ringing lawn mower is far less likely to stop to investigate Mama's prized milk glass, and at the same time, leg muscles he'll be using all his life will be getting him off on a solid footing.

Watch your child's development and be ready for each new stage with toys and games to meet his needs. Don't offer a small boy a man-sized hammer unless you really want your coffee table smashed to smithereens, but when your man J. g.

STEVE STOVALL

starts watching daddy drive nails and evidences great interest, give him a board and a hammer to work on. It is probably the noise rather than the nails he is interested in anyway.

Be prepared for the fact that your child is a natural mimic—if mama loves to bake, little daughter is going to bake too, and her own kitchen equipment will save mother's good temper and pastry too.

If papa likes to tinker with his car, son is going to be the happiest man in the world with a boy-sized car, and boy-sized tools to tear it up with.

7 Killed In Mishaps Over State

Lake, Traffic Toll Includes 12 Persons Hurt

Highway crashes and a lake accident caused the deaths of seven Georgians and injured 12 over a 24-hour period.

A mother, her teen-age daughter and a man were drowned Tuesday night in Houston Lake, out from Perry, when a skiff containing five people overturned. The dead were listed as Mrs. Annie Lee Whitton, 33, her daughter, Annie Ruth, 14, and Harold Walker, of Perry. Survivors of the lake accident were Lewis Green and Edward Flower, both of Houston County.

It was believed the motor-powered skiff failed to make a sharp turn. Dianne Bethune, 4, of Griffin, was killed instantly in a head-on collision Tuesday night on Highway 41, north of Macon. Her 8-year-old sister, Carmen, died in a Macon hospital yesterday. The father, Clarence Bethune, was listed as being in serious condition and the condition of five other members of the family was described as "fair."

Frank Walker, Jr., of Easton, was delivered to Monroe County authorities yesterday to face two counts of murder as the result of an auto accident which took the lives of two small girls.

Bibb Sheriff E. Julian Peacock turned the case over to Monroe Sheriff L. C. Bittick when a survey showed the head-on collision Tuesday night occurred in Monroe County on U. S. 41.

The father of the dead sisters, Clarence A. Bethune, of Griffin, is in serious condition at Macon Hospital. Five other victims of the mishap, all members of the same family, were in fair condition.

In another head-on crash near Statesboro, B. V. Page, a Bulloch County farmer, was killed. Ernest Taylor, Robert and Jimmy Clark, and Charles Snyder were injured.

Moe Smeling, 201 Nottingham Dr., Macon, was killed early yesterday on U. S. Highway 41, between Ringgold and Chattanooga, Tenn., just inside the Georgia State line, when his automobile left the road and dropped into a ditch. Witnesses said he was trying to avoid a crash with an oncoming car.

Smeling, manager of the Macon Elks Club, left Macon early yesterday en route to the Kentucky Derby. He was accompanied by William Mosley, a waiter at the Elks Club. Mosley escaped serious injury.

CITY HALL NEWS
Atlanta's three elephants at Grant Park will get renovated quarters to serve until plans for a new zoo are completed. George Simons, Parks Manager, has announced he will rearrange the zoo's cat house so that Penny and Coca II will be housed together and Alice will be placed in the old stall she occupied formerly.

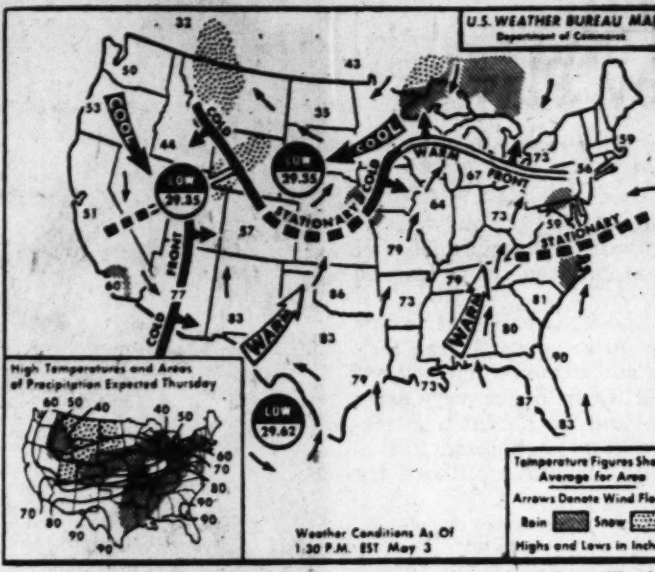

The north end of the new quarters will be walled off so the elephants can be kept close together with Penny and Coca II in adjacent space.

Simons said the changes would serve temporarily and he was looking for an architect to plan an adequate elephant house which will conform with the planned new zoo.

Fine Arts Week
Next week will be Fine Arts Week in Atlanta. Mayor Hartsfield has issued a proclamation setting the week aside for the observance and has called on all Atlantans to co-operate. Mrs. Joseph E. Buffington, chairman of the committee sponsoring the week, said one objective would be eventual establishment of a central office to coordinate sales, tickets, and publicity for all concerts and other presentations. The final goal is the creation of a Fine Arts Center for Atlanta, she added. The committee in charge of the observance is made up of representatives from 14 organizations devoted to furtherance of all the arts.

Mayor's Day
Mayor Hartsfield yesterday attended a luncheon given by a group of friends to Albert Thornton and last night he spoke to a group of First Baptist Church Sunday School workers and officials. He is a member of the congregation.

City Building Inspector O. Marvin Harper, Sr., Dies

O. Marvin Harper, Sr., 54, city building inspector and leader in city administration circles, died yesterday in Crawford Long Hospital.

Mayor Hartsfield announced the City Hall will be closed tomorrow in honor of his funeral and flags will be flown at half mast.

Mr. Harper was stricken Saturday night shortly after returning from a rest trip in Florida.

In almost five years as Atlanta's building inspector, Mr. Harper has seen the greatest expansion program in the City's history, had led the battle for more adequate fire regulations and had begun a large-scale smoke abatement and slum-clearance program.

Born in Villa Rica in 1896, he began his career in Atlanta as a carpenter. In his early years, he helped organize the local Carpenters' Union, AFL No. 225, and later became one of Atlanta's leading building contractors. He succeeded J. C. Bowen as building inspector in 1945.

His record as a city employee is an enviable one of achievement. Following the Wincoff fire, he waged a strenuous battle for a strictly enforced fire regulations and for three years focused his efforts on fire hazards in hotels, theaters and department stores before finally announcing that a disaster was virtually impossible.

He also attacked the activities of phony postwar contractors. Branding them as amateurs who were taking advantage of veterans, he urged the City to adopt an ordinance requiring contractors to be licensed.

Mr. Harper was a member of Cascade Lodge No. 94, F&AM, a member of the Baptist Church and Baraca Sunday School Class, was on the Executive Committee of the Carpenters' Union, Secretary of the Atlanta Federation of Building Trades, and a member of the Atlanta Labor Temple Association.

He was also a delegate of the Georgia Federation of Labor, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, Atlanta Federation of Building Trades, and a member of the Atlanta Labor Temple Association.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p. m. tomorrow at Spring Hill Dr. O. M. Seigler, Dr. F. M. Davis and Dr. Paul McCombs will officiate and burial will be in the West View Cemetery. Cascade Lodge No. 94, F&AM, will be in charge of the burial.

Surviving are his wife; a son, Oscar M. Harper, Jr., of Atlanta; six sisters, Mrs. A. A. Bell and Mrs. C. J. Jackson, both of Austell; Mrs. C. C. Couch and Mrs. S. E. Kirtland, both of Decatur; Mrs. Howard Lange and Mrs. H. D. Sorrells, both of Atlanta; three brothers, T. D. Harper, E. H. Harper and J. R. Harper, all of Atlanta, and several nieces and nephews.

Blouse Ironing

When ironing a blouse for the first time, test the iron temperature on an inside seam. To insure even dampness and good ironing results, let damp blouses "season" in a plastic bag.

WHEN SLEEP WON'T COME AND YOU FEEL GLUM
 Use Chew-Gum Laxative—Removes Waste... NOT GOOD FOOD
 When you can't sleep—feel just awful because you need a laxative—do as FEEN-A-MINT does. FEEN-A-MINT is wonderfully different! Doctors say many other laxatives "start their 'pushing' action too soon...right in the stomach. Large doses of such laxatives upset digestion, flush away nourishing food you need for health and energy...you feel weak, worn out.
 But gentle FEEN-A-MINT, taken as recommended, works chiefly in the lower bowel where it removes only waste, not food! You avoid that weak, not feeling. Use FEEN-A-MINT and feel fine, full of life! 25¢, 50¢, or only 10¢.

BANQUET HONORS TEACHER—Miss Lois Lewis, principal of Morrow Grammar School in Clayton County for the past 35 years, was honored at a banquet at Le's by 25 of her sixth and seventh-grade students last night. Serving the beloved teacher, who will retire July 1, are, left to right, Curtis Burrell, Shirley Cox, Patricia Williams and Gerald Bruce.

CHANNING COPE'S ALMANAC

Everything's Right At Yellow River

THURSDAY, MAY 4, 1950

Suggestion of the day: The grass is jumping, the cattle are filling out. By all means visit the country these days (those of you who don't live there) and see Georgia coming into its own. "Come, go along with me, the best is yet to be."

IT HAPPENS, SOMETIME

This is one of those wonderful mornings when everything is just right. It happens on a farm, sometime. Usually, some problem commends our energies and we are oblivious to the day's richness.

But today is especially right. There is no glare, it is too wet to work in the fields, the grass is responding to the moisture and warmth, the cattle are stretching their sides with succulent grass, the birds are nesting, the skies are soothingly gray.

Even Dan, our ancient saddle-horse, is bouncing with happiness. Almost, he is a horse again, instead of a saddle-broke gelding. Ada and Ida mooch about the pastures observantly, wondering how long their vacations will last. These four-footed relics of the cotton days on Yellow River Farm haven't pulled a plow or a cultivator in a decade; haven't hit a lick for more than two years.

Absence from glare is one of the greatest pleasures. Covering the glaring galled spots of earth in a mantle of green is to exert a healthful influence as well as an economic benefit. Glare and nervous tension go hand in hand. Green and relaxation are synonymous.

Days like today are appreciated the more because of what has gone before. The past few months have been anxious ones for the pasture-livestock farmers. The early Winter was dry and frosty, no real rains coming until just before Christmas. The grass was skimpy during January and February as a result. The frosts hung on until late April, nipping the new growths night after night.

No rain fell during April. In places the entire new plantings were destroyed through lack of moisture. Only the farmer with the Fall, Winter, and early Spring perennials got by without feeding hay or concentrates. But today is different. It has everything! Warmth, moisture, tone, strength, beauty. To be a farmer on a day like this is to be among God's anointed.

Brenau To Depict 'Old South' Days

Constitution State News Service
GAINESVILLE — Plantation Days in the Old South will be depicted at Brenau College's annual May Day exercises to be held on the campus Saturday afternoon.

The colorful event is expected to draw many visitors locally as well as from neighboring States, especially members of the families of the students, and alumnae.

The exercises will be sparked by crowning of Miss Grady Sue Jones, of Jasper, as May Queen, she and her Court to reign over the exercises.

A series of scenes depicting life on Southern plantations of other days will compose the program in which scores of Brenau students will take part.

Don't let LACK of PEP rob you of JOYFUL LIVING
Right now thousands of people are feeling hopeless, feeling they cannot keep up with their husband or wife, or sweetheart, or their work. They have no PEP, no VIM. They have aches and pains. They hate to get up in the morning. They have no appetite. Don't enjoy food. They have no energy to go places and do things. They just feel terrible all the time. Yet YOUR ANSWER and theirs, may be so easy, for your trouble can be LACK OF THE VITAMINS and MINERALS of that priceless formula V-T. The BALANCED formula V-T contains no habit-forming alcohol. V-T contains the vitamins B1, B2, P-P, the minerals iron (RICH RED BLOOD'S GIANT), calcium, phosphorus, manganese, copper. There is NOTHING BETTER. NOTHING FASTER. Get V-T today on the guarantee of satisfaction or money back. You owe it to yourself and family to try V-T.
